Agreement Puts End to Threat of TWA Strike

Settlement Announced by Labor Secretary Goldberg After All-Night Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Settlement of these most difficult negotiations and paid tribute to the help of the engineers' strike threat against Trans World Airlines was announced today by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg after an all-night bargaining session in his office.

The settlement, a victory for President Kennedy who had termed the threatened shutdown a menace to the national economy, provides for orderly reduction of jet plane crews from four men to three.

That had been the crux of the dispute, with the engineers insisting on terms which would maintain their cockpit job rights. The TWA agreement is expected to lift the threat of grounding the planes of two other major airlines, Pan American World Airlines and Eastern Airlines, which face the same problem of reducing crew numbers.

600 Jobs Protected

Goldberg told reporters the pact protects the jobs of the 600 TWA members of the Flight Engineers International Association and assures the continued identity of their union.

Signs that an agreement was near appeared early in the day. The agreement, initiated at 10 a.m. by weary bargainers who have been in almost continuous session since Monday, is subject to ratification by the engineers. But approval is taken for granted by union officers here.

Goldberg described the terms as noninflationary and said that by providing for orderly crew reduction they will produce savings for the airline many times greater than whatever wage and working conditions terms are fixed in negotiations still to come.

Feinsinger To Decide

The latter issues were disposed of in this fashion:

The parties will negotiate for one week; at the end of that time any issue not resolved will be settled by procedures to be specified by Nathan P. Feinsinger, special mediator in the case; the union and the airline have agreed to accept his recommendations and refrain from striking.

The settlement assures the engineers, who must now qualify as pilots, that they will have top priority for assignment as the third man in the cockpit with two State Supreme Court.

If he files a reply or a demurrer, the board will hold hearings, under the law. If he does not do so, it is assumed that the common-law missioners will impose a penalty, which could involve a suspension of his right to practice law upon his release from confinement or disbarment.

Greater Assurance

The spokesman for the engineers, Attorney Asher Schwartz, said the pact assures his organization "greater assurance in their jobs as flight engineers than must ratify the board's disciplinary measures against lawyers."

Cain and his wife were convicted in U. S. District Court for evading income taxes due the national government for the years 1953-56 inclusive.

Reynolds Plans Plea To Court Monday On Reapportioning

Wants Special Master to Recommend Plan by June 30

MADISON (AP) — Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds has informed the Legislature in any court fight with Reynolds over reapportionment.

The Republican plan to reapportion the districts was unfolded Wednesday and two GOP senators turned to work in droves in Algiers today, feeling the city's truce will stick despite continued scorched earth attacks by the Secret Army Organization in eastern and western Algeria.

Authorities reported a virtually 100 per cent return to work in all vital services of the city. For the first time in months, the city's streets were cleaned of piles of garbage.

A number of Moslems also returned to work in private companies. Several restaurants reopened and movie theaters advertised new films.

Terror Believed Ended

Moslem auxiliary policemen were being gradually put to work in European areas. They patrolled the streets in pairs and here and there attempted to direct traffic.

Officials said it was essential that the Europeans get used to the idea of Moslem policemen before independence next month.

Authorities believed that terror would not return to the city again.

"Everybody is tired of war and fighting," one official said. "We believe this peace shows all indications of permanence."

Authorities also were optimistic concerning the situation in western Algeria.

Some French reports said the secret army's West Algerian command was debating adherence to the Algiers truce worked out last

State Senate Hears Debate On Counselor

Stalbaum Denies Hiring Proposal Would Be Legal

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin Senate got into another argument today over legality of naming a special counselor to represent the Legislature in a federal court suit brought by Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds to force reapportionment before the 1962 elections.

Sen. Lynn Stalbaum, D-Racine, challenged a resolution that would grant such authority on grounds it did not estimate the costs that might be involved.

Stalbaum insisted that legislative rules demand a fiscal note on all measures requiring financing. Then he swung into a defense of Reynolds and the attorney general's actions.

Praises Reynolds

"It's about time somebody reminded you Republicans that John Reynolds is simply fulfilling his constitutional duty," Stalbaum said. "He's not taking legislative powers away — we gave them away when we failed to reapportion during the regular session."

The Racine senator said Reynolds had merely "moved into a vacuum created by the Republican leadership lack of action."

Sen. Jerris Leonard, R-Milwaukee, countered that Reynolds had shown "poor judgement in the whole issue before us."

Petition Assailed

Leonard said Reynolds' petition to a panel of three federal judges was a "slap at the State Supreme Court and the Legislature."

The senator explained that the state's high court rejected an earlier petition from the attorney general and indicated 1963 would be an early enough date to realign political districts in Wisconsin.

"But this man Reynolds is tearing down the image of the Legislature and trampling all over it like a tyrant," Leonard said. He added that "a classic example of the attorney general's poor judgment" was displayed in Reynolds' opinion holding that the Legislature is in special rather than regular session.

Leonard noted the opinion bore the initials of an assistant attorney general but was nonetheless signed by Reynolds.

"This shows he isn't even sharp," Leonard declared, referring to the man who seeks the Democratic nomination for governor.

Panama, Colombia Ponder Canal Issue

New Waterway Considered Necessary Within 20 Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has sounded out Panama and Colombia about a study of sites in those two countries for a possible new Atlantic-Pacific ship canal, it was learned today.

Experts say the Panama Canal, built in 1903, will become obsolete or so jammed with traffic by 1980 that a new canal will be needed.

Augusto Guillermo Arango, ambassador of Panama, and Carlos Sanz de Santamaria, ambassador of Colombia, were called to the State Department this week to be told that the Kennedy administration plans to ask Congress for authority to make the canal studies.

Once that is obtained, the two governments will be asked for formal authorization to make the surveys.

Topic at Conference

A bill asking congressional authority for studies in Panama and Colombia, and also to determine if it would be practical to increase the capacity of the present canal, has been under scrutiny of the Budget Bureau.

President Roberto Chiari of Panama was in Washington last week and told newsmen he and President Kennedy talked about it in detail.

At one time, government engineers also considered Nicaragua and Mexico's isthmus as possible canal sites, but the proposal to build a new canal was dropped.

The Panama Canal is the most promising site.

Panama has two potential places for new canals, both between the present canal and the Colombian border. One would be on the Atlantic side at the sheltered Gulf of San Blas, connect with a major river about midway across the isthmus, and

Local Asks NLRB To Reinstate 77 Fired by Kohler

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorneys for Local 833 of the United Auto Workers Union have asked the National Labor Relations Board to order reinstatement of 77 strikers discharged by the Kohler Co. for alleged strike misconduct.

The federal courts have upheld findings by the NLRB that the company was responsible for prolonging a long union strike against the Wisconsin plumbing fixture firm.

The NLRB declined to order reinstatement of the 77 workers but the courts have ordered the company to reconsider that portion of its decision.

A brief filed with the NLRB by Washington attorneys Joseph L. Rauh Jr. and John Silard contended the 77 workers should be reinstated. The brief contends the company provoked the employees' misconduct.

The attorneys also said that reinstatement is important from the standpoint of making effective the Kohler company's obligation to bargain with the union in good faith.

No Word for 7 Weeks Woodrow Wilson's Grandson and 3 Others Missing in Himalayas

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — A grandson of President Woodrow Wilson and three other amateur mountaineers are missing on an attempt to scale an unconquered Himalayan peak.

Prof. Woodrow Wilson Sayre, 43, two other Americans and a Swiss left their base camp in eastern Nepal May 2 for the final climb to the 25,910 foot summit of unvanquished Mt. Gyachung Kang. Nothing has been heard from them since.

Sayre, an assistant professor of philosophy at Tufts University in Medford, Mass., teamed for the expedition with Norman Hansen, 36, a Boston lawyer who had climbed Washington's Mt. McKinley with him in 1954; Roger Alan Hart, 21, a Tufts student, and Hans Peter Duttler a Swiss school teacher.

Before the four set out from Katmandu in March, Sayre told newsmen they planned a leisurely ascent with no fixed route or schedule.

Mountaineering experts in Katmandu doubted, however, that even a leisurely climb would completely black out news of them for seven weeks.

Gyachung Kang lies about 14 miles northwest of 29,028-foot Mt. Everest, the world's highest mountain. Like Everest, Gyachung Kang is bisected by the Nepal-Tibet border. Nepal controlling the southern slope and Red China the northern one.

Sayre is the son of former Ambassador Francis B. Sayre and the late Jessie Wilson, daughter of President Wilson. The elder Sayre was U.S. high commissioner to the Philippines before World War II and was a U.S. delegate to the United Nations.

Prof. Sayre is married to the former Edith Warren Chase. They have two daughters, Martha, 10, and Jennifer, 11, and live in Lexington, Mass.

Hart, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hart of Lynn, Mass., was to have been graduated from Tufts this month but left early for the climbing trip. His mother said he planned to return to Tufts later this summer to make up lost credits.

Reynolds' Tax Plan Opposed By James Doyle

Party Leader Will Offer Plank Praising Nelson's Legislation

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

James E. Doyle, Madison attorney and former Wisconsin Democratic chairman, wants the party to turn back Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds' plan to repeal the state's selective sales tax.

Reynolds, a Democrat, seeks the party's nomination for governor. His campaign includes a strong bid to repeal the sales tax adopted under the administration of Democratic Gov. Gaylord Nelson.

Democrats will hold their annual convention in Sheboygan this weekend.

Doyle said Wednesday night he has prepared for convention consideration a plank in opposition to one offered by Reynolds. It praises the governor for bringing about compromise tax revision action in the 1961 Legislature.

"Balanced Combination"

The Madison attorney's recommendation calls for "a balanced combination of income and sales taxes, with liberal exemptions and deductions for both, which will produce the needed funds without more excessive reliance upon already overburdened property taxpayers."

Nelson will run against Republican Sen. Alexander Wiley for a seat in the U. S. Senate.

David Carley of Madison, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, said Wednesday night that unless Democrats "shake off their apathy and get to work they will lose in Wisconsin in November."

Carley, state director of resource development, talked at a Milwaukee Democratic rally.

Test Failure Taken in Stride

Two Attempts to Explode Nuclear Device are Flops

HONOLULU (AP)—U.S. scientists at Johnston Island were pictured officially as taking in stride the second failure in two tries to explode a nuclear device at high altitude.

Privately, however, sources said the science and military team responsible for America's Pacific nuclear test series was embarrassed by flopping twice while the world looked on. The Soviet Union jumped at the opportunity to make propaganda hay.

The second test late Tuesday night involved the biggest shot this spring—officially classified as more than one million tons of TNT but probably 10 times that size. The Thor missile carrying the warhead to a firing altitude of 200 miles went awry and the missile and nuclear device had to be destroyed.

No Detonation

There was no nuclear detonation. Some of the debris fell on Johnston and a nearby "Sand" island, the remainder in the open sea "well within the safety area."

The two Johnston attempts have been the only pre-announced public tests of the series to date. Fir-ging times have been issued and countdowns have been carried on open radio frequencies. Delays and postponements, as happened both times, have been relayed fairly promptly.

Had the shots been successful, the flashes and, in the case of the second one, the fireball would have been visible 750 miles away in Hawaii.

Joint Task Force 8 said the failures would not change plans to announce future Johnston tests in advance.

Guild, Variety Artists Probe

Accuse Union Official of Taking Gifts From Hotel

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators investigating the American Guild of Variety Artists have been told a high union official accepted gifts from a hotel with which the union has labor agreements.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, and Jerome Alderman, subcommittee counsel, said violations of federal labor laws punishable by prison terms might be involved.

Bargain Rates

Officials of the Concord Hotel at Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., in the Catskill Mountains, testified Wednesday that Jackie Bright, the union's administrative secretary and operating head, accepted thousands of dollars worth of free or bargain-rate board and room. The union has collective bargaining contracts with the Concord.

Bright, expected to testify Friday, sat silent as the testimony unfolded about vacation stays with his wife and children at the Concord.

Level of Testimony
Alderman said he would produce evidence of more favors, but declined to say who got or gave them. It was learned a free vacation

Ladies Slightly Aghast, Man Named Winner of Flower Arranging Show

NEWARK, N.Y. (AP) — The ladies were slightly aghast. A man won the national flower arranging competition.

He is John C. Dowling Jr., 48, of Gaffney, S.C., who, with his wife, operates a women's ready-to-wear clothing store.

"I really invaded a women's field, didn't I?" he said today.

Dowling was declared the winner of the seventh annual Sterling Bowl Tournament at the annual Newark Rose Festival Wednesday for his arrangement of a combination of Pink Sensation and Velvet Times roses mingled with rose foliage.

The entire arrangement cost me less than $5. I used some scrap aluminum spirals from a factory that makes molds for recapping tires," he said.

Dowling said he went to hear a lecture on floral arranging in Spartanburg, S.C., about eight years ago. The lecturer was J. Gregory Conway, one of the country's leading experts in the field.

"I paid $18 to hear him, but I really got the bug," Dowling, the only man in the field of 14 national finalists in the

U. S. Beginning to Face Hard Reality of French Policy on Nuclear Arms

Diversion of France's Effort Into NATO Becomes New Goal

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are beginning to face up to the hard reality that France is determined to build its own nuclear weapons force whether they like it or not.

They are, therefore, becoming increasingly concerned with ways of eventually diverting the French effort into a new NATO nuclear weapons partnership for which the United States itself would have to make some concessions.

The problem of breaking the nuclear weapons deadlock within the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance has dominated the consultations held by Secretary of State Dean Rusk with President Charles de Gaulle and other French leaders in Paris. If De Gaulle and President Kennedy meet later this year, as Paris reports suggest is possible, it will undoubtedly be to find a solution to this problem.

New Approach

Indications of the new U.S. approach were disclosed in a speech on nuclear weapons strategy that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara made last Saturday at the University of Michigan. McNamara declared it is an urgent need, possibly involving the survival of Western civilization, that NATO countries agree on the coordination of targeting plans—the selection of targets against which a nuclear attack would be directed in event of all-out war—and the circumstances under which nuclear weapons would be employed.

McNamara's speech was sharply critical of the French plan to create a national nuclear force, though he did not mention France by name. This led in Europe to considerable counter criticism to the effect that the United States is trying to dictate to its Allies.

McNamara argued that development of a national nuclear force would encourage the spread of nuclear weapons among nations, would not serve as a deterrent against Soviet force and would create the danger of one of the Allies acting on its own to start a nuclear war.

As a means of dealing with the problem, he called for "unity of planning, concentration of executive authority, and central direction" in the development of nuclear strategy and precise plans for the use of nuclear weapons if the need ever arises.

One well-informed official, privately discussing the U.S. policy implications in the McNamara speech, said today "We are not giving up on our opposition to a French national force but we are now trying to think beyond that."

Other officials said that if the European allies in consultation with the United States through the NATO council at Paris produce a workable formula for a NATO partnership they will find the Kennedy administration completely cooperative.

One possibility reported to be under consideration is the creation of some kind of NATO command for strategic nuclear weapons. The initial effort of such an organization probably would be to integrate nuclear weapons strategies of the various allied governments including the United States.

Cuba Urges Formal Medical Students to Go Back to Classes

It promised aid to those who have dropped out for financial reasons and said special arrangements will be made to register those who were late in enrolling for current classes, Havana Radio reported.

Kennedy Acted On Assumption In Steel Affair

President's Brother
Fills in Details
During Interview

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy has always maintained that he acted in the "public interest" in the "steel-price controversy. His brother, the attorney general, has just given some interesting background on what happened. He says that the administration based its action on an "assumption" or "understanding" that the steel industry would absorb the added wage cost of $100 million, without increasing prices.

Did the steel companies, however, have any such "understanding" with the government when prices were advanced or even when they were held down? Was there concerted action between the White House and any steel company to fix the price of steel at present levels? Did the administration encourage any illegal act?

In an antitrust case in 1940, oil companies, which had been indicted for fixing the price of gasoline, argued that a governmental agency had encouraged, co-operated and acquiesced in their program. But the Supreme Court of the United States ruled:

Sherman Act
"Under the Sherman Act a combination formed for the purpose and with the effect of raising, depressing, fixing, pegging, or stabilizing the price of a commodity in interstate or foreign commerce is illegal per se."

"Though employees of the government may have known of those programs and winked at them or tacitly approved them, no immunity would have thereby been obtained."

"For as we have seen price-fixing combinations which lack congressional sanction are illegal per se."

The attorney general last Sunday spoke on the American Broadcasting Company's program called "Issues and Answers" and indicated that he would have welcomed a concerted action to hold their demands in extremely reasonable level which was recognized by all throughout the United States and a contract was signed period it was—the effort was being made so that the steel companies in turn would not have to raise their prices.

an "assumption" or "understanding" to that effect anyhow as between the steel companies and recognized as such, and then a period it was—the effort was being made so that the steel companies in turn would not have to raise their prices.

The President, Mr. Kennedy was short time later the steel companies, led by U.S. Steel, raised their prices. "Q. Well, if there was not an understanding, Mr. Kennedy, thereafter realizing what the effect would be on the economy on the part of the administration, what the effect would be on all of the other industries, price rise after this noninflationary agreement or consent is a violation of the antitrust laws. For that is what the Supreme Court has ruled is the "law of the land" today.

Administration Committed
"The President and the administration were committed to attempting to stop the inflation in the United States and in that effort the public interest and the various branches of the department of the executive branch felt in effect that he had been brought into play. I think he had a responsibility to defend and protect the public interest."

No Understanding
"Q. Did you say there was an understanding with Mr. Blough that steel prices would not be raised?"
"A. No. The effort was to be made so that the union's demands being reasonable that the price of steel would not have to be raised. It was with this understanding that the President and Arthur Goldberg went ahead and finally, through their efforts, that the government was bringing this pressure to keep the steel other foot and any "assumption" was reached from raising their demands to too among management executives in a high level. During that whole any industry whereby prices

Prices Raised
"A. That is correct. The steel company, executives, however, never said, never indicated, said or stated that they would not raise their prices, but it was an understanding as you described—that if we were successful in keeping the union demands at a low level and a contract was signed which was noninflationary it was the understanding that the price of steel would not be raised. Shortly afterward the price of steel was raised."

Yet, if the shoe were on the other foot and any "assumption" was reached from raising their demands to too among management executives in a high level. During that whole any industry whereby prices

Long Distance Rates Reduced

Charges on Calls Within State in Night, Evening Cut

Starting today, Wisconsin telephone users will be able to make many long distance calls within the state at lower rates.

Wisconsin Telephone Co. has reduced long distance rates on evening and night station-to-station calls within the state, Richard Van Sistine, manager of Wisconsin Telephone Co., said today.

'Family Plan' Rates

Between 6 to 9 p.m. each day and on Sundays, the charge for a three-minute, station-to-station call to the farthest point in the state will be no more than 75 cents, plus tax. The former maximum on such calls was 99 cents, meaning a reduction of 24 cents. On a three-minute, station-to-station call after 9 p.m., the charge will be no more than 45 cents, a reduction of 54 cents on a call to the farthest point within the state. Under the "Family Plan" arrangement after 9 p.m., the most a 10-minute call can cost will be 75 cents, compared to as much as $1.65 previously. The "Family Plan," introduced by the Wisconsin Telephone Company in 1957, enables customers to call any place within Wisconsin and talk for 10 minutes at the price of five. After the initial 10-minute segment, each two minutes of conversation is charged as one minute.

The new rate reductions recently approved by the Wisconsin Public Service Commission, Van Sistine said, permit the telephone company to eliminate or reduce the differences in rates between calls placed within Wisconsin and calls of similar distances from Wisconsin to points in other states.

The overall changes will provide more than $900,000 a year in savings for Wisconsin telephone users, Van Sistine said.

Storm Brews Over What U. S. Budget to Use

Three Summaries
Exist; Some Show
Red, Some Black

BY SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Uncle Sam has his fingers in so many things today that when he closes his books on this fiscal year June 30 it will be hard to say how much he is behind. One way of figuring will put him around $7 billion in the red, another at least $8.5 billion behind, and still a third will show him fairly close to breaking even.

And to add to the confusion the federal debt — which includes everything from your U. S. Savings Bonds to the Treasury's short-term IOUs to the banks — will be close to $300 billion up almost $10 billion on the year.

There are three ways of fashioning a federal budget as variously used by Congress, the Budget Bureau, or the U. S. Treasury and some government and private economists. Each served a different purpose in showing the government's impact on financial or economic affairs.

From Black to Red

A big storm, however, is blowing up as to which of the three should be used—the official or administrative budget, the cash budget or the national income accounts budget. Often when one shows a deficit, another shows a surplus. This is handy in political debate. But also sheds light on what is happening to the economy. This greatly simplified, is how the three budgets work.

The administrative budget set up by Congress in 1921 is the one you hear about the one that Congress debates.

It is proposed by a president in January and lists as expenditures: research, foreign aid, agriculture, housing, commerce and transportation, health and welfare, education, veterans' benefits and interest—more than $9 billion a year in interest on the national debt.

The administrative budget also estimates receipts of individual income taxes, corporate income taxes, excise, estate and gift taxes and customs revenue.

But the U. S. Treasury receives and pays out money for other purposes — Social Security, veterans' insurance, unemployment benefits, highway and other trust funds. So it has a cash budget.

A Third Summary

This shows what the Treasury actually receives from the public and pays out to the public.

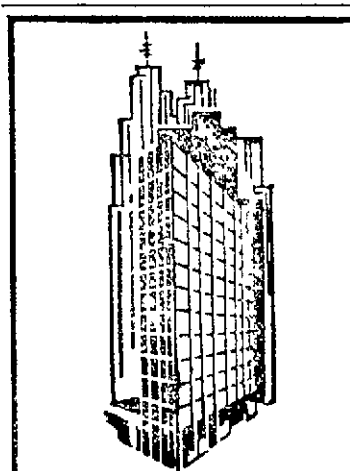

But of late many economists hold that even the cash budget gives less than an accurate picture. So this year for the first time President Kennedy offered Congress still a third summary of federal finances—the national income accounts.

This was devised by the Department of Commerce. It shows not what the Treasury has collected, but what has been put aside for tax payments. For example, what a corporation builds up to meet future tax bills—funds it can't spend in the business or commit for expansion.

Budget Director David E. Bell says that this fiscal year corporate tax accruals will run $3 billion higher than corporate tax receipts.

National income accounts also exclude government loans from the spending side of the ledger, holding those will be paid back and aren't like salaries — money paid out and gone forever.

These are the various types of budgets the President proposes as subjects for a serious dialogue—and the debate could be loud and long.

Sen. Goldwater Asks Wiley to Introduce Him

Some Republicans Wanted Kuehn to Make Presentation

MILWAUKEE (AP) — It may come as a shock to some of Wisconsin's militantly conservative Republicans, but Sen. Barry Goldwater will be introduced by Sen. Alexander Wiley at the $100-a-plate Republican dinner Saturday night because Goldwater insisted on it.

The junior Senator from Arizona, acknowledged leader of GOP conservative forces and chairman of the party's Senate campaign committee, "wouldn't have it any other way," a Washington source said today.

Wiley, senior Republican in the U. S. Senate, was overwhelmingly endorsed for a fifth term by the Republican State Convention last month, but dissident right wing forces in the party mustered a substantial showing of delegate votes—mostly in the Milwaukee metropolitan area — for Howard Boyle, who had assailed Wiley for his "liberalism."

Some Preferred Kuehn

The right wing would have preferred to by-pass Wiley Saturday night and have Sen. Goldwater introduced by Philip G. Kuehn, the party's endorsed candidate for Governor who did the introductions for Goldwater's last appearance here in September, 1960.

Instead, Kuehn will introduce Wiley at the Auditorium banquet. And although Wiley has decided to take no formal position on the Wisconsin primary contest looming between Kuehn and Wilbur Renk of Sun Prairie at this time, a spokesman for the Milwaukee businessman and former state chairman said, "I know he considers it an honor" to make the introduction.

Former State Sen. Kirby Hendee, Kuehn's press secretary, said in a statement:

"Sen. Wiley has served in the U. S. Senate longer than anyone in the history of Wisconsin, and as far as Mr. Kuehn and all of us working for him are concerned, he will be accorded the honor and respect which that unique and distinguished record deserves."

Plan Conference

The two Senators will arrive in Milwaukee separately Saturday morning but will spend a good deal of time together, by their own choice, before Goldwater returns to Washington.

Goldwater will hold a news conference at the Press Club at 3 p.m., while Wiley is meeting with his state campaign organization leaders. At 5 p.m., Wiley will be Goldwater's guest at a private reception in the Arizona Senator's hotel, both will make a brief appearance at a Young Republican reception and another at one in the Auditorium before the dinner.

Goldwater's address, a frankly political off-the-cuff talk which is certain to jab sharply at Wiley's likely fall opponent, Democratic Gov. Gaylord Nelson, is scheduled for about 8:30 p.m. After that, Goldwater will be Wiley's guest at another small reception for Republican leaders.

Kuehn will have a place of honor next to Goldwater at the head table. Renk, the other major can-

Hungarian Regime Hits At Catholic Officials

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The Hungarian Communist government has taken new measures of persecution against leading Hungarian Catholic church officials, the Vienna Catholic news agency Kathpress reported Wednesday.

The agency said Communist authorities barred the apostolic administrator of the archdiocese of Kalocsa, Dr. Johannes Bard, from carrying out his duties and are holding him under guard in a Hungarian village.

weekend by a secret army leader in the capital and a member of the Moslem National Liberation Front.

But officials in Oran said there was no sign of a change in the Oran terrorists' earlier defiance of the peace agreement. Instead, a blast wrecked a large natural gas installation, sending flames shooting 300 feet into the air. The secret army was blamed.

Additional Arson

Terrorists in eastern Algeria also were active, burning down the city hall and two other buildings in Bone, a major port 260 miles east of Algiers.

The European exodus from Algeria continued unchecked. With the curfew lifted in Algiers, several hundred Europeans set up camp beds and garden chairs to keep an all-night vigil outside an airline office. For them the halt in terrorism in Algiers was too fragile to build any plans on.

Someone in the line said, "The Arabs will never keep their promise" of no reprisals against the Europeans.

Referendum July 1

"Yes," came the answer, "let us get out of here before they put their knives to work."

The Moslem majority is expected to vote for an independent Algeria in a territorial referendum July 1.

Authorities in Oran said 60,000 Europeans have left the city in the past 20 days. At the start of the year the European population of Oran was about 200,000.

European labor unions have threatened to order a general exodus of Europeans unless autonomous European zones are set tors immediately offered amendments striking out changes proposed in their areas.

Reynolds Plans Plea Monday to U. S. Court

The plan for Assembly apportionment adds two seats to Waukesha County and leaves Milwaukee County with its present 24 Assembly districts. The added seats would be made available by cutting Douglas County from two assemblymen to one and eliminating the present district of Florence, Forest and Langlade counties. This district would become part of surrounding districts.

Congressional district changes proposed in the Republican plan would wipe out the 9th District represented by Rep. Lester Johnson, D-Black River Falls. The seat would be given to a new district created from Waukesha County and northern Milwaukee suburbs. Johnson's home area would become part of the 10th District, where the incumbent is Republican Alvin O'Konski of Mercer.

Another Suggested Change

Sen. Chester Dempsey, R-Hartland, proposed a change for his 33rd district of Waukesha and Jefferson counties. Dempsey wants to keep Jefferson County which the new proposal would take out of the district.

Gov. Nelson has stated that Milwaukee County should have an increase in the number of legislators because of the population growth there. The Republican measure provides no such an increase.

The Republicans scheduled a hearing Monday on their bill and all others dealing with reapportionment. By scheduling the hearing Monday, the Republican controlled Legislature gave notice it would not heed Reynolds' threat to ask federal intervention.

In addition to the GOP reapportionment plan, the public hearings will include discussion of measures offered by the Legislative Council. One of these plans, favored by Nelson, increases Milwaukee County's Assembly representation from 24 to 26 seats. Several constitutional amendments also have been proposed and will be considered Monday.

The Assembly planned a skeleton session today with no formal business to be transacted but the Senate was to meet in a regular session again, with a recess about noon.

Democrats were anxious to get home so they could attend the annual State party convention which opens at Sheboygan Friday.

Daily Papers Dominant Force

'Splinterization' of Magazines, TV Gives Press Greater Role

CHICAGO Daily News Service

CHICAGO — "Splinterization" of magazines and television is leaving daily newspapers the on-ly dominant force that reaches all people, members of the International Circulation Managers Association were told here.

"The weekend or Sunday newspaper is, of course, directly challenging the established national magazines," said William I. Nichols, editor and publisher of This Week Magazine.

"The contest between them will be one of the interesting developments in communications in the years to come."

Luncheon Address

Nichols, whose magazine is carried by 43 newspapers, spoke at a luncheon for the circulation managers in the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

Increased leisure time, income and education have widened the interests and activities of the population, he said, and have caused a trend away from general interest magazines toward magazines providing intensive coverage of special interests.

Broader Concept

A similar process is going on in television, he said, with the Federal Communications Commission planning to increase the number of TV channels from 12 to 82.

"As this development proceeds, newspapers are being forced to adopt a broader concept of what is 'news' to the average citizen," he said.

"To millions of people, news is anything and everything that touches them and helps them in terms of their own lives."

Nichols said newspapers must give increasing attention to entertainment, directly through features and indirectly through listing entertainment events; instruction, through columns and sections on family living, and inspiration, through editorial crusades.

Schoolboys Pick Wrong Target for Vacation Tossing

STAFFORD SPRINGS, Conn. (AP) — It was the last day of school Wednesday and the three teen-agers were feeling unusually frisky.

As they rode home along Main street in the Stafford High School bus, one of the boys tossed an egg at a pedestrian. It was a bull's eye.

A few minutes later the bus was stopped by a State Police cruiser. State Trooper Leonard Wielock, dressed in civilian clothes, had been the target.

The boys have an appointment with police today.

The Colombian site, near the Panama border, would utilize the Atrato and Truando rivers to cross a land area of about 90 miles, against about 50 miles for the Panama sites. The present canal is 40 miles long.

All three sites, one informed source said, would lend themselves to the idea of a sea level canal, which would eliminate the need for the costly locks system used in the Panama waterway and speed transits through the canal.

Appleton Teacher To Demonstrate Phonic Methods

An Appleton teacher, Sister Mary Bernard, O.S.F., will be one of six women educators on the staff for the Provisional Institute at St. Norbert College, West De Pere, June 25-30.

Sister Bernard has used the phonovisual method, which employs phonics to teach reading and spelling, extensively in her work. This is the first time such an institute has been conducted on a college campus, according to Rev. A. F. Diederich, O. Praem., campus coordinator for the institute.

A lecturer will supplement the session conducted by Sister Bernard and the other staff members. Miss Olive Brodfield, Chicago, will discuss reading problems for elementary pupils and teaching techniques for brain-injured children.

The entire institute will be under the direction of Mrs. Esther B. Lamb, phonovisual consultant, Milwaukee.

New Aid Granted By Cancer Unit

A new grant category — post-doctoral research scholarships — which seeks to cut down the lag between the laboratory of the research scientist and clinical application of the scientists' findings by practicing physicians has been announced by the American Cancer Society.

This new series of clinical research scholarships seeks to speed up the eventual control of cancer by helping to prepare young physicians and medical students for careers in clinical investigation.

One of the grantees is Dr. Thomas R. Tephly, 26, who became an instructor in the Department of Pharmacology, University of Wisconsin Medical School in February. He will begin his American Cancer Society Postdoctoral Research Scholarship at the University on July 1. He received his Ph.D. Degree from the University of Wisconsin in January.

1919 Souvenir Card Recalls First Air Express Delivery in Appleton

BY LILLIAN MACKESY

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Just 43 years ago this month, on June 23, 1919, an aviation "first" was chalked up for the city of Appleton.

Custom tailor Walt Hughes, who had a hand in its planning, owns an oversized souvenir postcard to prove it.

The postcard, featuring the business insignia of the Hughes-Cameron Co. Style Headquarters, proclaims "the first regular established aeroplane express service in the world." Above the words is a picture of the big, double-winged plane with "Society Brand Clothes" emblazoned on its side in huge, fancy letters. Leaning from the cockpit, aviator David L. Behncke is shown handing down parcels of clothing to the two business partners.

According to the front page story in the June 23 issue of the Appleton Post, the Appleton delivery also included a bundle of Chicago newspapers for the P. M. Conkey & Co., a College Avenue book and stationery store run by P. M. Conkey and Hugh Pomeroy.

Huge Crowd Waiting

There were more than 2,000 spectators gathered at the original, temporary landing field at College Avenue and State Road (the present Badger Avenue). At 12:28 p.m., all heads turned skyward as the plane came into view over the city from the southeast. The plane was eight minutes behind schedule.

Lt. Behncke brought the craft down to 500 feet as he flew over the business district. Excited spectators began to yell and wave as he circled the field — first once, then twice. Leaning out of the cockpit and waving toward the north, the pilot left without landing. The crowd surged forward, breaking in all directions, most of them taking off on foot in a wave of humanity across the fields.

Many of the spectators ran through the old fairgrounds, on the site of the present Knoke Lumber Co., to the Wisconsin and Northern Railroad tracks, now a part of the Soo Line. They hurried down the tracks to the intersection with Highway 10 to find the airplane resting in a mowed hayfield about 10 feet from the road.

Young Scholars Claim Lee Surrendered Twice

MEMPHIS (AP)—Scholars will disagree at times—as witness the answers given to a tough question on an eighth grade history exam administered here.

One young authority insisted Lee surrendered to Grant at Mathematics Courthouse, while another was sure the name of the Post, will be breathing heavy uncourthouse was Approximate.

As the Post explained it, "Two thousand puffing and panting people this afternoon welcomed David L. Behncke, Society Brand aviator, when he landed in a field near the corner of Second Ave. (now Wisconsin Avenue) and State Road (now Badger Avenue), 1 1/2 miles from the landing field selected by Hughes and Cameron, local agents for Society Brand clothes."

Waits for People
Behncke was sitting in the airship smiling and waiting as the people streamed across the fields on foot and in autos along the road to reach him. The newspaper noted that Walt Hughes was one of the last to reach the ship, "having lost most of his wind as he came through the fields of clover and thistle."

The aviator explained that the field marked for him was too bumpy for a smooth landing, so he circled in search of a better landing place.

He had stopped at Oshkosh on the promotion jaunt and was scheduled to take off for Green Bay. With the help of two former fairmen of Appleton, Karl Haugen and Arthur Mory, the birdman cranked his engine and made ready for take-off. After testing his motor for a few minutes, the aviator left the ground at 1:40 p.m. amid the cheers of the crowd.

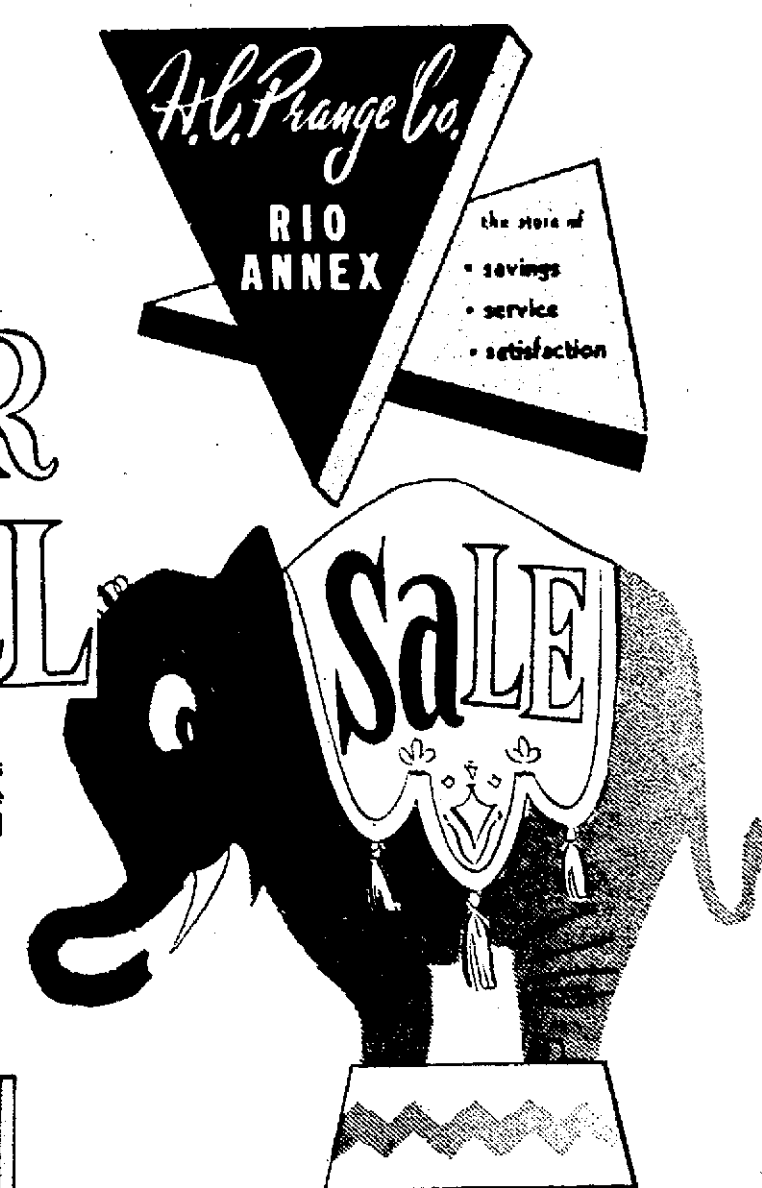

Many Appleton men who made the trip across field, said the aviator was breathing heavy until sometime tomorrow."

RE 9-2321

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — It is the legislature's lot to be the eternal punching bag of state politics, scorned, spat upon, ridiculed.

The 1961 legislature, forced to return to Madison against its will, illustrates again. It was treated to a kind of avuncular lecture from Gov. Nelson, who of all men ought to know something about the psychology of the institution, since he rose so recently from one of its humble seats. It was greeted by a bored press gallery and a contemptuous blast from one of the capital city papers crudely suggesting that it really wasn't welcome and if it possessed a spark of good sense it would do its bounden duty and scurry for home at the earliest possible moment. The statehouse bureaucracy looked on as a lady at a picnic might regard a bug.

All of which was inspired by the fact that the legislature was forced into a special session on reapportionment which involves the geographical transfer of four assembly seats and one seat in the state senate.

AND NOW

The job will be done, albeit reluctantly, even resentfully. There is no alternative. For the first time in the history of the republic, the courts have asserted mastery over what school children for generations have known as a coordinate branch of the government.

It needs to be said, this reporter believes, that the easy denunciation and contumely to which the legislature has been subject is wrong to the extent that it has over simplified the issue.

The fact is, and nobody who is even generally familiar with the political process doubts it, that any other 133 persons likely to be chosen to occupy these seats in the Wisconsin legislature would likely have stumbled as uncertainly and as equivocally on the redistricting issue as have these men who were actually elected to these offices in the last general Wisconsin balloting. It is very nearly as wrong to assume, as virtually all the critics have assumed, that this is somehow a partisan issue, that the Democrats are in the right and the Republicans in the wrong.

The fact is that it is an issue of regionalism, involving rural and small town Democrats and Republicans on the one hand, and bigger town Democrats and Republicans on the other. But most of all, it is an exceedingly complex and human and baffling subject which more saintly men than the Wisconsin legislature is ever likely to seat will find difficult to resolve.

TWO REASONS

There are archaic constitutional rules involved which make literally equal distribution of legislative seats arithmetically impossible. It is not simply a matter of identifying roughly equal clusters of voters, and assigning to them a legislative representative. The assignment must be within rigid and not wholly logical restrictions.

Second in importance is the very human disinclination of a politician to disturb his own electoral arrangements, the genius of which was proved to him by his ability to get elected within them, and which if disturbed might very well reduce or endanger his security. This is a piece of selfishness that applies to editorial writers and other superior persons, even as it does to those lesser breeds in the political system.

Finally, and distinctly in third order of importance, is that vague but nevertheless definable factor of regional consciousness — the reluctance of rural and small town Wisconsin to surrender statehouse power that it has held historically and responsibly, as far as it is aware, to the strange and uncertain and possibly distrusted power of the growing metropolitan centers.

It is not merely a matter of pasting up little colored maps. It is a problem that represents all of the fallibility of human nature, whatever might be suggested by the critics on the sidelines to whom the sneer comes so easily.

Election Campaigns Underway; Ryskind Bets on Durochers

BY MORRIE RYSKIND

The primaries are over, and we know who the candidates are going to be. And from now the demagogue will be heard thundering throughout the land.

Not that the professional politico isn't basically a decent fellow. But out on the hustings fighting for his political life, the law of self-preservation prevails and anything goes.

The whistle stops limited to hand-shaking and baby-kissing are fine, but they produce no headlines. What is needed is a direct accusation or a sly innuendo — something like "I want to keep this a clean campaign, and I do not charge that my opponent actually poisoned his 83-year-old grandmother, but I think it highly significant that she was cremated only three days after her death and that he inherited $2,500 from her estate."

Remember 1948

And never take victory for granted. In 1948, things looked so lopsided for Tom Dewey that he thought he could coast. The pollsters counted Harry Truman out before the fight actually began, and the governor, obviously unwilling to keep hammering and possibly risk a manslaughter charge, thereupon began exuding

"May I have my watch back?" Hartig asked.

Space lawyers' ode: Twinkle, twinkle, little star, how I wonder whose you are. Are you red and white and blue or merely Russia's crimson hue?

Billie Sol Estes lists $40 million in liabilities, $20 million in assets. With that record, they're not sure whether to declare him bankrupt—or secretary of the treasury.

Looking Backward

Soldier's Life Not an Easy One

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for July 5, 1862.

(This is an excerpt from a letter written by an Appleton soldier with the 4th Wisconsin Regiment.)

Baton Rouge, La., June 15, 1862 — Perhaps a line from the 4th Wisconsin may be acceptable and upon that assumption we write this letter.

Since leaving Baltimore, we have encountered and endured more privations than was in accordance with our tastes, and now we find ourselves in New Orleans under orders to march at an hour's notice — whither we are not permitted to know.

We left Baltimore on 28th February last under orders to report to Fortress Monroe, where we arrived early on the morning of the 29th, were marched out upon a sand bar. After spending the day as best we might, we retired for the night into holes scooped in the sand.

There was a heavy sea and the wind, which was quite cold, blew the sand about in drifts. The next morning we found ourselves completely covered up, cold and wet with the heavy night air of that quarter.

Soon we were on our way to Newport News aboard a small steamer and on approaching the Cumberland and the Congress, were saluted by the "jolly tars" with a hearty round of cheers, which we answered with "three and a tiger," our band at the same time playing national airs.

While passing the first night, (on land), we awoke about midnight to find it raining torrents. We made for the woods, where, getting under large trees, spent the remainder of the night in our blankets.

Early in the morning we were suddenly ordered to pack up and go aboard the steamship Constitution The 21st Indiana and 6th Michigan were under the same orders, and the next morning found us aboard the splendid craft. There was a bunk for each man, with the exception of 100, who could choose for themselves quarters in almost any part of the deck.

At Fortress Monroe, General Williams came aboard with his staff and we soon found ourselves upon the broad Atlantic making for Ship Island. Well, we arrived at the island — the very jumping off place of all creation. We finally disembarked, and even sand ankle deep seemed good to our feet, and we could get fresh air and water. Here we were ordered to drill from 8 to 10 a.m. with brigade drill from 2 to 5 p.m. each day until further notice.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, June 17, 1937.

Five new men on the Menasha Police force were Joseph F. Rippl, Franklin Fahrrenkrug, George Jedwabny, Cyril Walbrun and Earl Gilman. All employees of the police department also were working a new eight-hour day schedule, according to Police Chief Alex Slomski.

The Appleton common council voted 7 to 4 in favor of giving parking meters a six-months trial on College Avenue between Durkee and Superior Streets.

Mrs. David Gallaher Sr., Mrs. Mark Catlin Sr. and Mrs. Ralph Landis were hostesses at an afternoon tea at Riverview Country Club. The 200 guests heard Mrs. Anita Willets Burnham, artist, lecturer and author, present a talk on Mexico.

Charles Widesteen, 22, Appleton, was to receive the first Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce hero medal for risking his life to save another person. Widesteen rescued Miss Anna Veumar, Appleton, when her car plunged through a retaining wall into the canal north of the John Street bridge Gov. Philip F. LaFollette was to present the medal the following Sunday.

Mrs. Jeanne Herrick, Neenah delegate to the G.A.R. Encampment and Women's Relief Corps state convention in Sheboygan, was named flag bearer for the sessions.

10 YEARS AGO

Thursday, June 19, 1952.

Five Appleton youths and nine others from the area were elected to mythical state and county offices at Badger Boys State at Ripon. The Appleton boys were Robert E. Yee, Richard Rosenzweig, Robert Dumke, Gordon Myse and Clyde Arft. Other elected officials included Gerry Davis, William McFadden, Wau-paca; James McCoy and William Lund, Neenah; Eugene Stammer, Navarino; David Jacobson, Larsen; Douglas Davidson, Clintonville; John Schuh, Kimberly; Thomas Sexton, Hortonville.

James McKenzie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Basil McKenzie, Appleton, was named the general manager of the Peninsula Players, summer stock company at Fish Creek in Door County.

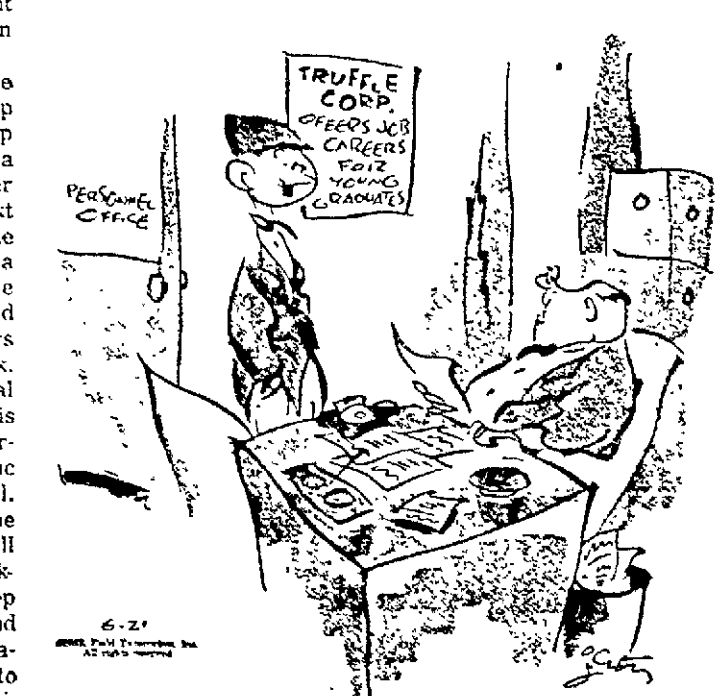

Rosemary Salm, Route 3, Neenah, won first prize in the essay contest held by the Twin Cities Commandery, Masonic Order. Arthur O. Gutzmann and Earl Thompson were in charge of the contest on the subject, "Why I Am Glad to be an American."

Valley Temple, Pythian Sisters, honored Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson, Neenah, with a tea in observance of the couple's 40th wedding anniversary.

Ernest C. Stark was elected 17th ward alderman by the Appleton common council. Stark replaced Jerry Zapp, who resigned June 15. Stark previously had served in the post from 1943 to 1951.

Competition for Scholars

Earlier in the year there was considerable publicity over the fact that three University of Wisconsin professors were leaving Madison to take positions at other institutions, presumably with more pay. The scale at the university for the top positions does rank a little lower than some other Midwestern universities although considerably above that of Wisconsin's State Colleges. But the recruiting, which really has become raiding, is going on all over the country and no institution seems immune from either being raided or taking part in the game.

The major reason for this state of affairs is that the field of college teaching is in effect a seller's market. As the number of students attending college continues to rise steeply, the percentage of qualified teachers goes down. There also is an ever increasing number of college graduates going on to graduate school and presumably many of these will go into teaching. But for the time being, the long years of schooling required for a doctorate, combined with a dearth of graduate students only a few years ago, means there will continue to be a shortage.

The big lure used by colleges still is money but a lot of other factors now are entering the picture. Some are legitimate but some can only be considered as damaging to the profession. One such lure is to assure a professor that he will have to teach only one course or even be completely free for research, writing or study once he has set up the department and lent the prestige of his name to the institution. Instead of adding strength to the teaching program of the college, this actually cuts it down and, in the words of one official "is a form of sterilization." For professors on the verge of retirement, such inducement probably can be justified, and research does and should play an important part in a scholar's work. But the primary business of a teacher is teaching and the college loses when this is not stressed.

Other inducements thought to be important include climate, availability of good housing and the status of the local public schools. Some offers include tuition payments for all the children of a wanted professor at the colleges of their choice; such fringe benefits as university sponsored low cost housing loans; and the promise to make extensive efforts to raid other campuses so the department head can fill up his department with other scholars. The Eastern colleges have the advantage of appearing to be a community of scholars rather than huge sprawling impersonal institutions. A California official hopefully noted that there is "a westward tilt to the continent" in citing the number of well-known teachers who have moved West.

This pressure on recruiting is not going to ease for many years, if at all. In a way it is encouraging, from the intellectual viewpoint of the nation, that professors are important enough to draw such attention. It also is an indication that many of the moans about poor pay and status in teaching do not relate to all teachers.

The Legislature is going to have to look at the problem closely not to be bamboozled by the biennial tears of the number from Wisconsin who are leaving, but also to vote to raise enough money for salaries to keep the state on an equal footing with its neighbors.

Reds are Always a Problem

Americans in general probably feel themselves pretty much alone in the world when considering the various problems of dealing with Communist countries without assisting Communist regimes. But other nations have similar troubles. This is particularly true of Germany which is so split that there are many close friends and relatives living on opposite sides of The Wall.

There was natural reluctance by Germans living in the Soviet zone to leave while they still could although millions did. Some hoped that the differences would be straightened out. Others thought they could help to reduce the Communist influence by staying. Now, with East German guns trained on the border and shooting even children, there is less and less opportunity to get away.

But the Soviet zone officials have indicated to the Federal Republic that East Germany is "interested in more deliveries of hard coal, machinery, chemicals and food, provided that it be given the opportunity to pay for such deliveries at a later date with reciprocal deliveries."

Obviously that "later date" is indefinite and may almost be considered as infinity.

'Every Day Is Dairy Day'

In giving a boost to Dairy Day which is celebrated each year in June, Sen. Alexander Wiley quoted some interesting statistics and offered some good advice to people in Wisconsin who realize the importance of the dairy industry.

Sen. Wiley noted that farming still is the biggest industry in the United States and said if all milk produced in the continental United States were gathered together it would make a river 40 feet wide, 3 feet deep, 3,500 miles long. Wisconsin produces 18 billion pounds of milk annually and thus has a special interest in encouraging the use of milk and the other dairy products such as cheese, butter and ice cream. The people of Wisconsin have an excellent product to sell. According to a consumer's survey, milk and milk products provide 28 per cent of our food nutrients for only 19 per cent of each food dollar. From dairy foods, the American family obtains 23 to 26 per cent of its calories, 20 to 45 per cent of its protein, 75 to 84 per cent of its calcium and 35 to 39 per cent of its Vitamin A.

In observing Dairy Month, the Wisconsin dairy industry is attempting to do something for itself. It's a good thing it has a good product to sell because it is becoming more and more apparent that little help can be expected from Washington. Most of the dairy program has been cut out of the farm bill now being considered in Washington. Thus when Sen. Wiley says we should "make every day dairy day" he is doing something worthwhile because in the end self help may be the salvation of the dairy industry.

More Ink for the Monster

Science is getting just a little too forward in Scotland. It is getting so a self-respecting monster, upholding all the traditions of the Middle Ages, gets put upon no matter how long he has lived in his ancestral home or how rigidly he sticks to the regulations.

The famous Loch Ness monster, known to the local inhabitants as Nessie, was first seen in 1933. Since then more than a thousand people, including a respected monk and a British Member of Parliament, have spotted Nessie with his two humped back and his dragon head. But no one has managed to get Nessie down satisfactorily on film or other scientific measuring apparatus.

So this summer two groups have moved into the area. A group of Cambridge University scientists have their headquarters on a yacht and maintain a night and day vigil. Another organization, known as the Bureau for Investigating the Loch Ness Monster Phenomenon, Ltd., is camping near the loch. These bright young men and women plan to collect scientific data on Nessie and get it all down mechanically. They are equipped with binoculars, searchlights, cameras, aqua lungs and sounding gear. They even want to record Nessie's heart beat.

The water bailiff of Loch Ness has agreed to all the shenanigans as long as the invaders make no attempt to harm Nessie or take him away. But we suspect the monster himself will take a part in the proceedings and he is very likely to go back into hiding deep in the loch for a century or so. Sea monsters are shy by nature and besides who wants to be called a phenomenon?

Bilingual Children Make Higher Scores

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) —What relation, if any, does the knowledge of more than one language have to intelligence?

Two McGill University psychologists say they are pondering this question after studies in which bilingual children scored significantly higher in both verbal and nonverbal intelligence tests than children knowing only one language.

The tests were given to Montreal school children of the same age and socio-economic level, Elizabeth Peal and Wallace E. Lambert reported at a convention of psychologists here.

Compact Car's Future Seen As Biggest Question Mark

BY DICK GRIFFIN
Chicago Daily News Service

DETROIT — All the smart money went against them. It seemed like a sure bet.

Yet, after nearly three years of direct competition with 13 compact cars battling furiously for the little-car market, American Motors' sturdy Rambler has not just survived — it has prospered. Rambler is, in fact, the nation's biggest selling compact car.

Scrappy little American Motors is besieged by problems. Can the company's famous get-up-and-go spirit prevail in its continuing struggles? This is the first of three articles exploring Rambler maker's troubles and peering into its future.

Now, however, grave problems once again face the game, little (by auto industry standards) Rambler maker. In the main, they are:

A diminishing market for the compact car. Industry statistics and motivation research expert Louis Cheskin, who knows the industry, say the buyer is regaining an interest in larger cars. A squeeze on profits, despite healthy sales, that has cut the earnings return on stockholders' investment to one-fourth what it was in 1959.

Strong Competition

The stiffest competition in the auto industry in several decades is notably supplied by behemoth General Motors, which has sliced itself well over half the entire car market, the greatest share ever achieved by one company. The amazing management teams of GM and Ford, generally considered among the half dozen best in the country make things even rougher on AMC if the expected comeback of Chrysler develops in the near future, competition will get worse.

If confidence and enthusiasm sell cars and build companies, American Motors has a head start. From chunky president Roy Abernethy on down, cool certainty in the future of the company and the Rambler car are constantly apparent.

Monopoly Question

On the decisions of these men ride the future of one of the nation's 40 biggest corporations, and that of the 24,000 employees at nearby Milwaukee and Kenosha, Wis., where Ramblers are built.

Perhaps even the future of mighty General Motors rides to a large extent on American Motors' continuing success. Without AMC's determined competition, the often-voiced suggestion of breaking GM into two or more separate companies might become a reality.

"Our future must be a reflection of our past," says Tom Coupe, AMC vice president for auto sales.

American Motors' initial strategy, after its emergence in 1954 from a union of Hudson and Nash, was to avoid clashing head on with the Big Three. It didn't have the resources. AMC decided to outflank them, building a type of car not offered by GM, Ford and Chrysler.

The strategy worked, with the little Nash Rambler as the key stone.

"We have to be sharp enough and smart enough to pattern our cars in the areas of public need," Coupe said. "And this time we have the resources."

Streamlined Management

People are the key to any organization. Without the right men and the right number of them, a business is doomed.

"We don't have layer upon layer of top executives," said Abernethy, an unlit cigar protruding from his mouth. "We're streamlined."

What the chunky executive considers strength, some of his competitors consider a weakness.

"The top man at GM, when he has a problem, can pick up the phone and talk with any of five car division heads," said a vice president of a competing auto maker.

"Then he can go to three or four group VPs and a couple of executive vice presidents who know the divisions and the top financial people.

"But when Roy (Abernethy) will eat the dinosaur? I think has a problem, he walks out of his office and talks with two, maybe three people. Then he goes over in a corner and talks with Abernethy. He's had it.

"Something Special"

"This means the top man, the decision maker, has to be something really special."

Since last fall, when it first became apparent that George Romney might not be AMC's decision maker much longer, the big question has been whether this extraordinary leader was the whole organization.

We're better off today than any time since last October," insists one American Motors executive.

"Romney was running the company with one hand and his political future with the other. We had to track him down every time a decision had to be made."

"But Abernethy and Dick Cross (new chairman of the board) have no other interests or aspirations. They are on the spot, here, all the time. They can and do move fast."

Market Declines

One gets the impression, after two days with AMC executives, that they, and not the ghost of Romney, are running the show. But they invoke his name and his words—reverently and frequently.

When vice president Coupe said AMC's future must be a reflection of its past, implicit was the confidence that there's a compact car in the US future. Is there?

The compact car market in recent months has slipped a few tenths of a percentage point—very slight, but its first decline since the little cars caught on four years ago.

Several investment advisory services, for what their opinion is worth, have pronounced the demise of the compact. Some of the nation's biggest auto dealers say the same, thing.

"Consumers have tired of the economy car fad," they said.

Ford Changes Plans

No less an authority than Ford Motor Co. which dropped plans for its sub-compact Cardinal recently, concluded the growing interest in "sporty" cars with bucket seats and the rest of the gadgetry means people want to return to something like the showboat vehicles of the middle 1950s.

Romney said several times he did not believe the "mouse" he did not believe the "mouse" that's right. But we differ a little on our automotive zoology.

Did we differ a little on the concept of building what the public wants... no matter what."

"The house... the small car... will not eat the dinosaur. But the lion... the compact car... will. The large car... the dinosaur... is through as king of the American highway."

Did Romney committed us only to bind AMC to the compact even if the market shifts back to the arrogant chariots?

"I don't think we're hidebound. We're going to build a given size car in the future," says Coupe thoughtfully.

Nik's Balkan Tour Reflects Concern

Soviet Premier Preaching Unity, Agreement; Actions Show Worry

BY PETER LISAGOR
Chicago Daily News Service
WASHINGTON — Nikita Khrushchev's political fence-mending in the Balkans is viewed here as evidence of Moscow's concern about stubborn problems within the Soviet empire.

The Soviet premier is preaching unity and agreement on his Balkan tours and making relatively placatory remarks about Berlin and other cold war issues, it is noted by diplomatic experts.

"He seems to be under a compulsion to explain his policies and prospects," a competent authority on Eastern Europe says. "It's as though he's worried about the hinterlands of his empire."

Pep Talks
On his current visit to Romania, like on his recent trip to Bulgaria, Khrushchev has engaged in pep talks about Communist prospects.

His remarks in Bucharest about Berlin being no cause for war have indicated to diplomatic officials here that he may welcome a let-up in tensions in order to concentrate on internal problems, including food shortages and other economic ills.

Soviet experts believe that the harsh hike in prices of meat and butter the Kremlin was forced to impose in the Soviet Union may be having a deeper impact among the satellites than generally supposed.

They tend to believe that the recent economic conference of the Warsaw Pact powers in Moscow disappointed Khrushchev. Some evidence points to the fact that a couple of satellites, Poland and Czechoslovakia, were less than enthusiastic about his schemes for greater integration of their economies.

Common Market
That conference is thought to have been inspired by the growth and progress of Western Europe's Common Market, which worries those communist states in Eastern Europe that cherish their trade with members of the Common Market and want to find an accommodation with it.

A development at that conference still puzzles the experts here. Mongolia was invited into the fold and accepted. If Communist China, North Korea and North Viet Nam also were invited, they didn't show.

Whether this accentuates the rift in the Sino-Soviet world is uncertain. But it certainly doesn't augur for a greater cohesion, the experts agree.

Red China's difficulties on the farm have been trumpeted to the world by the flight of refugees to Hong Kong. Khrushchev has admitted to agricultural deficiencies in Russia, and similar accounts of trouble have come from other communist sources.

Sustain Morale
Khrushchev undoubtedly feels compelled to talk about Berlin on these junkets, the experts maintain, not only to reassure his Balkan allies that his pledge to do something about it has not lapsed but also to sustain the morale of the Walter Ulbricht regime in East Germany.

He still threatens to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany ending the occupation status of western forces in West Berlin, but reiterates that he puts no deadline on this. "As soon as the matter is ripe," he says, "we will solve the problem."

Authorities here deduce from his remarks that he is content to continue talking with U. S. officials about Berlin without expecting any early results. He seems to be borrowing time with which to deal with more pressing matters at home, they believe.

Experiments at Oxford

American Attempting to Prove Extrasensory Perception Exists

BY WILLIAM STONEMAN
Chicago Daily News Service
OXFORD, ENGLAND — An American investigator said that he has obtained what he regards as "convincing evidence" of extrasensory perception (ESP) in experiments here.

He is Stephen Abrams, son of Mrs. Annette Abrams, Chicago, and a University of Chicago graduate who has been conducting research in parapsychology, which deals with ESP.

Abrams attracted public attention in January after visiting Russia to meet scientists there doing similar work and to lecture about his experiments.

Sixth Sense
Abrams said he obtained evidence earlier this year convincing him of ESP, sometimes referred to as a possible sixth sense.

He said that in the experiments hypnosis was induced by thought transference.

He also studied the use of ESP to stimulate various senses and to set off conditioned reflexes such as sudden laughing or hand clapping.

Abrams emphasized that the experiments were largely exploratory. He added:

"I have not been able yet to conduct experiments under the rigorous conditions necessary to make them appear conclusive to others and I do not expect other scientists to accept my results until I have complete results and have publicized them."

Russian Work
Abrams, who has done work at the world famous parapsychology laboratory headed by Dr. J. B. Rhine at Duke University, Durham, N. C., said many of his experiments have been based on Russian work.

"The Russians are interested almost exclusively in telepathy," he said.

Telepathy, or thought transference, is only one phase of ESP. It also includes clairvoyance (extrasensory detection of an object or event) and precognition (detection of future events).

Psychokinesis (PK), popularly known as "mind over matter," also falls in the field of parapsychology.

Most other sciences have either entirely discounted or are highly skeptical of parapsychology, although some scientists outside the field think there may be something to telepathy.

Abrams is also using card reading experiments developed by Dr. Rhine and works on transmission of drawings by ESP.

"Drawable objects are selected at random and the recipient of the telepathic signals has to copy the drawings," he explained.

He added that the card reading

None Hurt in 2-Car Collision Near Chilton

SHERWOOD — No injuries resulted from a two-car collision involving vehicles driven by Mrs. Edward C. Steenis, 45, 807 W. Wisconsin Ave., Appleton, and John E. Pawelski, 37, Stevens Point, on U. S. 10 - State 114 about five miles west of here at 1:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Calumet County police said the Steenis car with a trailer attached was parked facing west along the shoulder of the eastbound lane when it was struck. Pawelski told police the parked car was partly in his lane and had bright headlights, which blinded him. He swerved but smashed into the Steenis car, police said.

Experiments "have been of enormous value in establishing the authenticity of ESP."

"The Russians do not believe that the authenticity of telepathy has been finally settled but agree that there is very good evidence for it," Abrams said.

Airline Ordered to Hire Negro Stewardess

DETROIT (AP) — Northwest Airlines, Inc. must hire a Negro woman, now a clerk in the airline's Chicago office, as a stewardess, the Michigan Fair Employment Practices Commission ruled Tuesday.

The FEPC found the airline guilty of discrimination in refusing to give a stewardess position to Marlene White, 27, formerly of Detroit, who began her fight for the position in March, 1957.

The commission ordered the airline to put Miss White in the next scheduled stewardess training school at St. Paul, Minn.

Should Nation Ignore Growing Federal Deficit?

Some Feel Spending Can be Paid for By High Prices

NEW YORK (AP)—Balancing a budget is a neat trick if you can do it — as many a family man knows.

On a national scale the attempt has, more often than not, frustrated presidents for decades.

And now the balancing trick is complicated still more by a big debate just starting.

Is balancing the federal budget really the virtue it's cracked up to be? Should we abandon the type of budget we've used for decades in favor of one of several other devices in vogue in Washington?

Ignore Deficit

Or maybe, should we adopt the kind of deficit-ignoring bookkeeping they've used in Europe with seemingly marked success since the war?

The debate should be bitter. It will challenge some strongly held beliefs. President Kennedy has termed some of these conceptions myths.

You probably will choose sides, depending on whether you believe a Treasury deficit is a sin to be paid for in rising prices later on, or that in the present state of world and domestic affairs a deficit can be an economic tool to encourage growth and make more jobs and greater prosperity.

Federal Debt Unimportant

You may find yourself on the side of those who think taxes should be cut and government spending, too. But you may line up with those who see a continually rising federal debt as a small problem in an economy that is growing still faster.

The federal budget which a president is required to submit in January, and which the Congress spends the following six months changing or adopting, is called the administrative budget. The ob- back only to 1921. In that year Congress set up the Budget Bureau and ordained the formal, or administrative budget. THE object was to keep a tighter fiscal control over the ordinary programs of government.

But since then a lot of other programs have been set up, and they aren't included in the administrative budget.

About one-fifth of Uncle Sam's fiscal activity isn't recorded in the administrative budget at all. And yet this fifth plays a big part in shaping the national economy.

Braves Sweep Two Games From Mets

Hank Aaron Drives in Six Runs

NEW YORK (AP)—After dropping two doubleheaders to the lowly New York Mets early this season, it was about time for a turnabout by the Milwaukee Braves. And Hammerin' Hank Aaron made sure.

Aaron continued his torrid hitting by driving in six runs on three singles and a pair of homers as the Braves swept a doubleheader from the Mets 9-4 and 3-2 Wednesday before a crowd of 6,643 in the spacious Polo Grounds.

Feasting on New York pitching Aaron accounted for all the Milwaukee scoring in the second game which was called after six innings because of rain. His 15th homer after Eddie Mathews walked in the third inning and his 16th with the bases empty in the sixth were the only Milwaukee hits off Mets starter Bill Hunter.

Aaron collected nine hits in 16 times at bat, collected three homers, including a grand slam, and drove in 11 runs as the Braves captured three of four games in the New York series. He raised his average 15 points to .335 and boosted his RBI total to 58.

15-hit Atlatck
The Braves backed Tony Cloninger's pitching with a 15-hit attack in the opener. Staked to a big lead the 21-year-old right-hander went the distance for the first time this season and earned his second victory against one defeat. He allowed 10 hits.

Milwaukee clinched the decision with a five-run explosion in the third inning. A single by Aaron was good for two runs and Gus Bell, acquired from the Mets last month, accounted to three more with his second homer as a Brave.

Joe Adcock hit his 10th homer for the Braves, while Marv Throneberry and Felix Mantilla connected for the circuit against Cloninger.

Southpaw Bob Hendley of the Braves and Hunter hooked up in a pitching duel in the nightcap. Hendley was tagged for seven hits but escaped damage until the seventh when he was bailed out by Lew Burdette.

The Mets scored two runs on three hits and a walk and had runners on second and third when Burdette was summoned from the bullpen. Fidelity Lew retired pinchhitter Gene Woodling for the

Panfishing Good In Winnebago, Most State Waters

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin Conservation Department reports that panfishing is excellent in most Wisconsin waters.

The department cited Green Bay and Lake Winnebago, and lakes in Sawyer, Jefferson counties as waters in which panfishing was excellent in the past week.

The department report, issued Wednesday, also said that bass fishing was outstanding on branches of the Flambeau in Price County.

Musky fishermen are doing well, too, the department said. The department added that mosquitos also are plentiful and recommended use of repellents.

CLINTONVILLE — First-place Clintonville erupted for eight runs in the eighth inning and went on to capture its fourth straight victory, 9-3, in Central Division play of the Fox Valley American Legion Baseball League here Wednesday night.

The contest was a pitching duel for seven innings between Clintonville's Kurt Marshak and Appleton's Paul Zeegers. Clintonville scored first in the fifth inning when two errors, a walk and a stolen base resulted in an unearned tally off Zeegers.

Cleveland Wins Pair, Stretches Lead Over Twins to 2 Games

Boston's Fornieles Hits 4 Batters; Angels Triumph

BY JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Beanball, anyone?

Either American League pitchers are suffering a collective streak of poor marksmanship or they're feeling uncommonly vindictive toward their natural enemies—the hitters. At any rate the high quota of hit batsmen continues, along with the resulting flare-ups.

Wednesday night for example, Boston's Mike Fornieles matched a modern major league single game record by plunking four—count 'em four—Cleveland batters in the course of the Indians' doubleheader sweep over the Red Sox. And at Kansas City, Jerry Walker of the Athletics nicked Leon Wagner of Los Angeles.

Wagner threw his bat at Walker, Walker threw the ball at Wagner again, and both were ejected after a medium-sized free-for-all.

Boost Win String
By beating Boston twice, 6-3 and 3-0, the Indians boosted their winning string to seven and their league lead to two full games over Minnesota, a 5-1 loser to Chicago.

Los Angeles whipped the A's for the seventh straight time, 5-1, with Wagner hitting his 20th homer before his flinging match with Walker, and Washington nipped Detroit 5-4. New York and the Orioles were rained out at Baltimore.

Barry Latman fired a five-hit shutout in the second game and Bubba Phillips clinched the opener with a three-run homer in the Indians double victory over the Red Sox. Phillips' homer off Gene Conley came in the sixth inning and brought Cleveland from behind, and Woodie Held added insurance in the eighth with a bases-empty homer against Hal Kistad.

Fornieles uncorked a wild pitch and walked a man in addition to hitting four batters before he was yanked in the fourth. But the Indians were unable to cash in on these breaks. They did capitalize on an error by Ed Bressoud and Ty Cline's double for a run in the second. Willie Kirkland socked a homer in the third off Fornieles, making his first start this year.

John Kindall rounded out the scoring by homering in the eighth against Arnold Earley.

Latman squared his record at 4-4 with his pitching gem.

2-Run Homer
The Angels, who've beaten the A's 10 of 13 this year, were started off by Bob Rodgers' two-run homer in the second and Wagner hit No. 20 in the fourth. When Wagner came up in the sixth Walker plunked him and a typical baseball battle ensued—much milling and swinging, little hitting and no scoring.

After peace was restored, Danny McDevitt became the Kansas City pitcher and was touched for Los Angeles' last two runs in the seventh—on Felix Torres' triple, a couple of singles and a pair of

White Sox Send Dave DeBusschere To Class A Farm

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox sent Dave DeBusschere, a bonus pitcher, to Savannah, Ga., in the Sally League Wednesday.

He will be available for recall on 24 hours notice.

A spokesman for the White Sox said they want DeBusschere to pitch every fourth day under manager Les Moss.

"When he gets experience," the spokesman said, "we will bring him back."

DeBusschere, who was a basketball star at the University of Detroit, joined the Sox on weekends until the academic year ended this month.

He appeared in seven games, pitched 11 innings, allowed five hits and seven runs, four of them earned.

Appleton picked up three unearned tallies in the top of the eighth to take a 3-1 advantage.

Bob "Rocky" Bleier rapped the only hit of the inning.

Clintonville came back to chase Zeegers in the bottom of the eighth on a combination of three hits (by Jack Korb, Duane Ethridge and Bob Beversdorf), walks and errors.

Zeegers was relieved by Wayne Trindrud. Together, they fanned eight and walked nine.

Marshak, a southpaw, struck out 20 and walked only three.

Freedom '9' Scores Sixth Win in Row

Manthey Holds Green Bay to Three Hits in 13-0 Romp

GREEN BAY—Freedom swept to its sixth straight Fox River Valley League victory Wednesday night as Bob Manthey hurled a 3-hit shutout over Green Bay.

The score was 13-0.

Manthey struck out seven and walked five. Only one runner reached third base and this came in the first inning. Manthey also led the Freedom attack with three hits in four plate appearances.

Freedom will play Little Chute-Kimberly Sunday in a game that could decide the first round championship. LC-K is slated to meet Morrison tonight, and a Papermaker victory would send both teams into Sunday's game with unbeaten records.

Jim Vande Wetering belted the only extra-base hit in the contest. He hit a home run in the second inning with no one on.

Jose Gonzales Must Shave Off Goatee Before Saturday Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Jose Gonzales' manager objected when he was told Wednesday that his fighter would have to shave off his goatee before he could fight in New York State.

"Why, it's an American custom," protested manager Manny Gonzalez (no relation), "it's as American as chewing gum."

"If he doesn't shave off that garbage he won't be allowed to fight," warned Dr. Alexander Schiff of the New York State Athletic Commission.

"It's a good luck charm and I like it," the fighter said with the help of an interpreter.

Good luck or not it will have to go before Jose meets middleweight Joey Archer Saturday night in Madison Square Garden.

Houston Clips Giants, 9-5, as Larker Hits Grand-Slam Homer

BY BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

There's nothing about the physical appearance of Hank Aaron—not a slugger—nothing that is, until he whips the bat around and exerts power from two of the strongest wrists in baseball.

The Milwaukee Braves outfielder, who gives away 40 pounds to a slugger like Jim Gentile of the Baltimore Orioles and 30 to Mickey Mantle and teammate Eddie Mathews, has a waist that is the envy of dieting women.

But he has feasted on National League pitchers to the point where he has more hits and runs batted in during the past five years than any player in the league.

The New York Mets are the latest to feel the sting of Aaron's sharp bat. He clouted New York pitching for nine hits in 16 at-bats, including a double and three home runs, and drove in 11 runs in the four-game series that concluded Wednesday.

This spurge raised his season's batting mark to .335, tying him with the Cubs' Bill Williams and Stan Musial of the Cardinals. It also helped Milwaukee raise its sagging fortunes by taking three of the four games, culminated by a 9-4, 3-2 doubleheader sweep Wednesday. The second game was called after six innings because of rain.

With 9th Inning Insert

Otherwise the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers lost a 5-4, 11 inning affair to the Cardinals, but retained their 2 1/2 game lead when Houston clipped second-place San Francisco 9-5.

Pittsburgh edged Cincinnati 5-4 and Chicago and Philadelphia were rained out.

Bill White drove in the Cards' 11th inning tie-breaker with a single. His drive through the box off Ron Perranoski followed singles by Ken Boyer and Jim Schaffer. Bobby Shantz, held the Dodgers scoreless after taking over in the eighth and got the victory third out as a heavy rain fell. Hendley was credited with the victory, his fourth as compared with six defeats.

Zion fell from a three-way first-place deadlock in the American Church Softball League Tuesday night by dropping an 8-4 decision to St. Pius.

St. Pius and Trinity — a 9-7 winner over St. Mary — now share the lead. St. Joseph edged St. Bernardette, 13-12, and First Methodist squeezed by Congregational, 10-9.

Ken Lang hurled the victory for St. Pius. He allowed six hits, fanned six and walked none. Marv Winarski led the attack with three hits.

Don Stevenson smashed three hits, and Tom Pagel connected for a home run for Trinity. Jerry Schmidt got the mound verdict. Chuck Kunitz paced St. Mary with three blows. Bill Geenen took the loss.

Marty Van Domlen drove home the winning marker for St. Joseph in the last half of the seventh inning with a fly. Jim Ahrens was the game's leading batsman with three hits.

Dick Blackburn allowed 10 hits in gaining the victory for First Methodist. John Young was charged with the defeat.

WALNUT, Calif. (AP) — Oregon's unpredictable distance runner, Dyrrol Burleson, kicked up quite a controversy today with the announcement that he will compete after all in the National AAU Track and Field Championships here this weekend.

The 21-year-old senior changed lanes and said he will run here—after announcing that he was through racing for the year.

But he will run only in the 3-mile event instead of what would have been a widely heralded and long anticipated clash with little Jim Beatty of Los Angeles in the mile.

Burleson's coach, Bill Bowerman, accused the National AAU of using a "club" to make Dyrrol compete in the Nationals.

AAU officials vehemently denied the charge.

Against the Best
Burleson's 3-mile effort will be against the best, however, notably New Zealand's Murray Halberg, who holds the world record, and Canada's 19-year-old Bruce Kidd, who whipped Halberg in the recent Compton Invitational meet.

At best, Burleson's switch was greeted with mixed emotions here. The meet starts Friday at Mt. San Antonio College.

Burleson's sudden change of plans matched his maneuver last May. After withdrawing from the Coliseum Relays weeks before, he abruptly decided about two days before the meet that he would run against Peter Snell of New Zealand, the world's best.

Snell demolished him and Burleson's American record of 3:57.6 with a blistering 3:56.1.

Bowerman, an avid critic of the AAU and a leader in the new United States Track Federation, charged that pressure was applied by the AAU to force Burleson to run here.

J. B. (Cap) Haralson of Bakersfield, Calif., chairman of the AAU National Track Committee, denied the accusation. He said Burleson was welcome but not indispensable because "we have a lot of good boys already here."

McKinley Survives 2-Hour Battle In Fourth Round

LONDON (AP)—Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., runner-up at Wimbledon last year, survived a rousing 2-hour battle with Donald Dell, Bethesda, Md., in the London Tennis Tournament Wednesday, 8-6, 7-9, 6-4.

The fourth round matches at Queen's Club were shifted from grass to indoor wood because of rain. Two surprises resulted, in this last tournament before the Wimbledon championships get under way Monday.

Whitney Reed, the No. 1 U.S. player, was beaten by Martin Mulligan, an unranked Australian, 6-3, 7-5.

Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy, seeded No. 7 at Wimbledon, was crushed by Britain's Bobby Wilson 6-0, 6-2. Pietrangeli complained about the wood surface after the match.

Bright Displays
American women gave bright displays in third round matches. Carole Caldwell, Santa Monica, Calif., beat British Wightman Cupper Dierdre Catt 6-2, 6-2. Fans applauded her powerful service and sharp placements as the American girl won 10 games in a row after losing the first two.

Nancy Richey, San Angelo, Tex., whipped Anna Dmitrieva, Russian's No. 1, 6-2, 6-4.

Gwyn Thomas, Cleveland, Ohio, defeated Mrs. G. L. Forges, South Africa, 6-4, 6-1.

Jon Douglas, Santa Monica, Calif., played well in downing Chris Crawford, Piedmont, Calif., 6-4, 6-3. Douglas is matched in the first round at Wimbledon with Australia's Roy Emerson, seeded No. 2.

Jim Robbins, of Manitowoc, won the bonus event, Dav Ott.

The gray-haired old salt wore of Fond du Lac, was the runner-up. Bob Kleinschmidt, of Oshkosh, won the demolition.

The winners and runners, respectively, of the four heats: Only a final recheck of figures. First, Keith Steede (Shiocton) and by officials of the Royal Bermuda Bob Robbins (Manitowoc). Sec-Yacht Club held up an official announcement.

Nina, a graceful white Cape Third, Ray Trudell (Appleton) Cod-built schooner outpointed 130 and Cliff Hannagan (Kaukauna), yachts in the 635-mile deep water Fourth. Jim Beyer (Appleton) and race to win on corrected time. Glenn Bessette (Appleton).

NCAA Golf Medalist Gains Victory

Only 9 of 18 All-Americans Still in Running

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — For years, some college coaches and amateur golf enthusiasts have maintained that the National Collegiate men's tournament is one of the most rugged tests in golf.

The 65th edition of the championship, now in its second round at Duke University, underscores this opinion.

Competition is fierce. It appears that the quickest way to get yourself knocked off is to bring a glowing reputation into battle.

Three days ago the coaches announced with pride their three-team All-America choices. All 18 were entered in the tournament.

But only nine were around today as the rain interrupted second round resumed.

Three Fail
Three failed to qualify after 36 holes of medal play scrambling for 64 match play positions, one lost out in the playoff and five more were eased out in the first round.

Rain cut play short with five of the 16 second round matches in progress on the par 71 course, measuring 6,828 yards. Play will be resumed at the point of suspension, and the third round will be played this afternoon.

Under the revised schedule, the quarter-final and semifinal rounds will be played Friday over 18 holes. The semis originally were carded for 36. Barring further rain scramble, the 36-hole finals will go as scheduled Saturday.

Medalist Kermit Zarley of Houston, whose 140 led the 36-hole medal play, was the only one of the top five scorers to survive the opening rounds.

Wins Last 2 Holes
He won the last two holes to edge Army's S. B. Pembroke, 2 and 1, then took out to play Ed Moehling Jr., two-time Illinois State champion from Northern Illinois. Zarley led 1 up when they were halted by rain after nine holes.

Big names dropping by the wayside included two 1961 quarter-finalists, Charles Layton of Georgia and Pete Byers of Marshall, and John Lotz of San Jose State.

First team All Americans who survived the milling were Homero Blancas of Houston, Charles Courtney of San Diego State, Labron Harris of Oklahoma State and Jerry Jackson of Purdue.

4 Kimberly Boys Enter Net Tourney
KIMBERLY — Four Kimberly boys will participate in the district tennis tourney in Appleton June 28 and 29, according to Gil Frank, recreation director.

Representing the village will be Jim Corey, 14-year-old class; John De Wildt and Lee Levknecht, 15-year-old class, and Pete Vandehy, 16-year-old class.

Grading, Mains, Sewers Okayed On 13 Streets

Appleton Council To Hold Hearing After Costs Known

Street improvements, water mains and water and sewer laterals were ordered by the Appleton City Council Wednesday on portions of 13 streets.

Scheduled for grading and graveling are Green Bay Road from Washington Street northeast for 242 feet; Buchanan from Newberry to Lourdes, Joseph from Newberry to College and Lucille from Christine to Buchanan. Green Bay Road also will get curb and gutter.

Curb and gutter with added gravel will be installed on Byrd from Owaissa to Ullman and Nicholas from 324 feet north of Grant to Glendale.

Water Mains

Water mains will be installed on Lincoln from 188 feet west to 388 feet west of Madison, Forest from Schaefer to Christine and Marquette from Outagamie to Gillett.

A public hearing will be held on the proposed work after the engineering department completes plans and specifications, and after construction costs and special assessments have been tabulated.

Water and sewer laterals are to be installed on Joseph from Lucille to College, Lucille from Christine to Joseph, Gunn from Walter west to the subdivision line and Lindbergh from McDonald to Owaissa.

Property owners must have the work done in 20 days or the city will have it done and bill the owners.

Man Found Dead on Road Near Fremont

Woman Seen Digging Up Robbery Loot

CHICAGO (AP)—Police decided that it was not a petunia bed Mrs. Patricia K. Guido was digging at 3 a.m., so they arrested her and discovered, they said, that she was spading up the loot from recent home robberies in the Chicago area.

Mrs. Guido, 26, is the wife of Nick Guido, 41, an ex-convict sought for questioning about a gang killing and who is described by police as being the leader of a robber gang that has preyed on wealthy homes in Chicago suburbs.

Cook County sheriff's deputies, Will County officers and Chicago police saw Mrs. Guido digging in the yard of her home in Joliet, southwest of Chicago, in the wee hours Wednesday.

Kept Watch on Home The detail had the home under surveillance in the hope of nabbing Guido and another member of the gang in connection with the slaying of Herbert Kwate, 23, another gang member, whose body was found Monday near Carpentersville.

Mrs. Guido had uncovered a sugar can, the officials said, when they surprised her digging up her yard. The can contained envelopes which held pieces of jewelry of undetermined value.

The can also contained a ring of the Chicago area and another ring of master keys for automobiles, loop, 1600 Kenneth Ave., Kaukauna. Some of the jewelry matched the description of some taken May 30 in the $5,000 robbery of the palatial home of Charles Laury Botthol in Winnetka on the North Shore.

Reynolds Says Crackdown on Hurley Ahead

MADISON (AP) — Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds said today the state is going to crack down on Hurley, the Northern Wisconsin community figuring in national vice news.

"The state is going to move in with all its powers," Reynolds told a newsman.

"It's about time we clamped down on Hurley. It's long overdue," he declared in an interview.

A Senate Investigating Committee has heard testimony that teen-age Canadian girls have been "held in virtual bondage" as entertainers in Hurley night spots.

The attorney general did not specify when the crackdown would come or in what manner.

The first step, he indicated, would be to send investigators to Hurley. He added:

"The law isn't the problem. We have plenty of powers under which we can act. The problem is proof that will stand up in court. We intend to get it."

Hurley is a city of 3,034 residents.

3. Room for a Big Family

4. Bucket Seats That Recline

Put the gear topside—spread the family inside—start your vacation in a Rambler wagon

Vacation starts the minute you roll from the driveway in this roomy Rambler Cross Country Wagon. For you've loaded enough luggage into that rear Roof-Top Travel Rack to outfit a small army. You've got the kids stowed in that king-size playpen area, where they can play mile after mile. And should little sister grow drowsy, she can swap places with Mom and relax in the reclining Bucket Seat. This seat (a low-cost option) converts readily to a nap couch.

Meanwhile, you've got the wheel of a zesty performer that shrinks the miles—skims over ruts and bumps that have other cars dragging their tailpipes.

Fact is, this solid performer cheerfully ignores most any kind of punishment. Single-Unit construction defies jars and jolts—stays rattle-free. And exclusive Deep-Dip rustproofing—right up to the roof—keeps your Rambler young years longer.

All the more amazing then, that you will find Rambler's wonderful wagons so low priced. And offering eye-opening gasoline mileage, low maintenance and, eventually, high resale value to boot.

13 Priests Promoted to Monsignor

Elevations Bring Number of Prelates in Diocese to 28

GREEN BAY — Thirteen priests of the Green Bay Roman Catholic Diocese have been promoted to the rank of monsignor, it was announced today by Bishop Stanislaus V. Bona.

The elevations, received in official communication from the Vatican, are effective May 19. The new monsignors bring total priests of that rank in the diocese to 28.

Promoted are Msgrs. Joseph Ahearn, Menasha; Joseph Becker, Menasha; Adam Grill, Appleton; Francis C. Heimann, Algoma; Victor Hoppa, Antigo; Francis McKeough, Oshkosh; Peter Salm, Kaukauna; Aloysius Trzebiatowski, Oshkosh; Alfred Schneider, now in Brazil; Hubert Kleiber, DePere; Theodore Verbeten, Preble, and John Gehl, and Peter Skell, Green Bay.

Three of the new appointees have been given the rank of Papal Chamberlain with the title of Very Reverend Monsignor. They are Msgrs. Kleiber, Schneider and Trzebiatowski. All others are named domestic prelates with the title of Right Reverend Monsignor.

Papal Household

All 13 priests honored are now members of the papal household and have the privilege of wearing the red or purple cassock and other trappings of prelates.

Although the new prelates have had the right to their titles from the date of the announcement of promotion in Rome, they will not wear the robes of their rank until investiture ceremonies. Bishop Bona will officiate at such ceremonies at a date not yet chosen.

Appleton Council Grows Hot Over Sluggish Sewer Survey

Ald. Loos Complains About Cash Outlay for Very Involved Study

The stars were out in Appleton Wednesday night and there were no rising water or flood problems in anybody's basement.

But the temper gauge of several aldermen rose sharply during a discussion of the money and time being spent to make a survey of storm and sanitary sewers to find out what has to be done to avoid the flood conditions that developed during last summer's heavy rains.

Ald. Kenneth Loos said he is very deeply concerned about the cost, particularly the cost in the city engineering department, which is over and above the $22,500 that will be paid to Fenner-Brey Engineering Corp., Manitowoc, for making the survey.

He said he couldn't understand why it was taking so long, when originally it was supposed to be completed in six months.

"No One Argued"

Ald. Allan Sonkowsky countered, "Last summer when we had the floods and everybody was on our necks to do something about them, none of us argued about the cost or the time, we wanted it done. Now you're making an issue of it."

"I beg to differ with you alderman," Loos said. "I questioned the cost last year when the survey was approved, and it was supposed to take only six months."

At the Sept. 21, 1961, Loos questioned the advisability of spending that much money for the survey and asked if the city engineering department could do the work. Director of Public Works Edwin Duszynski said his men could do it, but it would mean shutting down a big portion of his department's operations because he would have to pull men off of other projects.

Willing to Gamble

Loos said he didn't want that to happen, and added he was almost willing to gamble that an unusually heavy rain storm would not hit Appleton again for a long time.

"By the law of averages we shouldn't get any more like that for a long, long time, but I could be wrong. We could get one tonight," Loos said at that time.

"I was glad when it stopped raining Sunday," Sonkowsky said. "If we would have had a couple more inches as fast as the first inch came we would have been in the same condition as we were last summer."

The survey will be completed sometime in September, Burlyn Stuewe, a representative of Fenner-Brey told the council Wednesday.

Outagamie May Become Single Senatorial District

GOP Reapportionment Plan Would Effect Little in Rest Of Appleton, Green Bay Areas

MADISON — The Republican bill to reapportion Wisconsin legislative and congressional districts announced Wednesday will have comparatively little effect upon the political arrangements of Appleton, Green Bay and vicinity.

The only feature in the measure immediately controversial, according to appearances Wednesday night, is the proposal to make Outagamie County alone a state senate district and to transfer Waupaca County to a reorganized senate district in central Wisconsin. Sen. Gerald Lorge, Bear Creek, incumbent representative of the existing 14th District consisting of Waupaca and Outagamie Counties, announced he will oppose the change and insist the district remain as it is now constituted.

The assembly redistricting bill will transfer the Towns of Grand Chute and Center from the First District of Assemblyman Kenneth Priebe, Appleton, to the Second District of Marvin Babbitt, Seymour, and shift the Village of Kimberly to the First District.

Transfer Ward

It also will transfer the Fourth Ward of Green Bay from the Second District of Assemblyman Alexander Grant to the First District of Assemblyman Jerome Quinn.

The most important assembly change in northeastern Wisconsin would put Forest County with Oconto in a single district. Oconto has had an assemblyman of its own. Assemblyman Lloyd Baumgart, Lena, said he is willing to accept the change, but he is not happy about it. His district would be one of the largest geographically in the state and stretch for more than 150 miles from south to north.

Rep. John W. Byrnes, Green Bay, was represented as content

Home Mutual Building Begun

Bubolz Drives Steam Shovel for Groundbreaking

As the employees and officers looked on, Gordon A. Bubolz, president of Home Mutual Insurance Co., drove a steam shovel up to the future site of the company's new office building and broke the ground Wednesday.

Though part of the foundation for the new $1,500,000 home office had been dug, the site was officially dedicated at the ceremony.

The new home office will give us the facilities we need for our continued growth and development," Bubolz told the employees. He described the history of the company and the philosophy that has guided its growth.

Plans Approved

Directors of the 62-year-old company approved plans for the building in late December. The site is on the south side of State 47, just west of Valley Fair Shopping Center in the Town of Menasha.

The company's present quarters are at 228 W. College Ave., where the Association of Lutherans plans to build a 10-story addition to its present building.

The structure will contain 57,000 square feet of floor space on two levels. It will be a low-slung building of stone and glass. The front facade will be 223 feet long. The site contains 10 acres.

250,000 Policy Holders

Home Mutual has more than 250,000 policy holders. It operates in six states and is licensed to operate in 20. There are 1,100 agents and three branch offices. There are 150 employees in the home offices and 250 in the entire operation.

The company was founded at the Seymour farm home of Julius Bubolz, father of the present president, in 1900. It moved to the Irving Zuelke building in Appleton in 1931 and to its present location in 1951.

Explaining the details are, from left, Assemblyman William Steiger, Oshkosh; Sen. Clifford Krueger, Merrill, chairman of the 15-member GOP committee which drafted the plan; Assemblyman Robert Haase, Marinette; GOP majority leader in the Assembly, and Assemblyman Walter Calvert of LaFayette County, assembly GOP caucus secretary.

Two Pastors, Two Laymen

Four Appleton Men to Attend Last Parley of United Lutheran Church

Four Appleton men will attend the final convention of the United Lutheran Church in America in Detroit, Mich., Monday through Wednesday.

Delegates of the Synod of the Northwest, ULCA, from Appleton, will be the Rev. I. B. Kindem, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, clerical delegate; Martin J. Beaumont of Trinity, and Eugene Cerveny, director of Lutheran Welfare Society, Appleton, and a member of Our Saviour Lutheran Church, lay delegates.

The Rev. Ralph Sandgren, pastor of Our Saviour Lutheran Church, Appleton, will attend the meeting as a visitor.

The three delegates and Pastor Sandgren will retain these respective capacities at the constituting convention to form the new Lutheran Church in America, which will be held in Detroit June 28 through July 1.

Concluding conventions for the other three uniting bodies, Augustana Lutheran Church, American Evangelical Lutheran Church and Finnish Lutheran Church, will also be held immediately preceding the merger convention.

The business of the ULCA convention will be concerned with the routine affairs such as disposition of assets and liabilities, committee reports, reports from the auxiliaries and boards of the church, and messages from representatives of the home and foreign mission fields.

The Rev. I. B. Kindem will serve on the committee of reference and counsel for this meeting. He will serve on the committee on minutes for the merger convention.

The Joint Commission on Lutheran Unity has been planning the merger of the four churches since 1956. The Rev. Mr. Kindem, as a representative of the Synod of the Northwest, ULCA, served on its committee which developed plans for the organizational structure of the new synods that would

Neenah Council Hikes NHS Addition Bond Issue by $120,000

High School Wing, Other Project To Cost City About $2,225,000

NEENAH—Unanimous approval was given by the Council Wednesday night to the Board of Education's request for another $120,000 to be added to that already provided for the addition to Neenah High School.

The Council authorized the issuance of contracts to the bidders recommended by the Board of Education and directed the city clerk to publish a resolution calling for the additional $120,000 in bonds.

This raises the bond issue to be issued sometime in August to $2,225,000 of which $1,695,000 will be for the high school addition and $530,000 for the Coolidge School project.

The bond issue resolution will be presented at the Council's next meeting and the town chairmen from the rural districts which will become part of the Neenah school systems as of July 1 will vote on this issue.

Heating Bid Change

By use of an alternate to substitute Modine equipment for that originally proposed, the Board of Education was able to effect a $2,800 saving which made the low bidder for heating and ventilating the A. H. Angermeyer Co. of Neenah instead of Rohde Brothers of Plymouth.

The net Angermeyer bid is $237,400. Rohde Brothers was awarded the plumbing work on its low bid of $91,329.

Fluor Brothers Construction Co. of Oshkosh was given the general contract bid on its cost of $52,550 and Mayr Electric Co. of Sheboygan the electrical work on its bid of $137,060.

In addition to these costs are $136,000 for instructional equipment such as desks, chairs and shop equipment, $3,700 for changes being required by the Industrial Commission, $3,000 for miscellaneous items for all shop classes which may be applied toward the contingency, $94,000 in architect's fees and $36,961 as the contractor's fee.

The Board of Education met with the Council at 7 p.m. to review the bids. Board President Paul Groth cited the problems facing the Board. To redesign the structure to lower the cost would mean a considerable delay and to eliminate some of the work would effect only minor savings.

City Clerk R. V. Hauser said the Council could add the $120,000 next year as part of a different bond issue which would then cover the equipment portion and the site improvement to the Board, will mean that three Board members will have their terms expire each year. The appointments were confirmed by the Council.

Employees of Wisconsin Container Corp., received a safety award plaque for one year — 124,000 man hours — without a lost time accident. The presentation was made Wednesday by William T. Berfield, right, safety engineer representing Employers Mutuals. Accepting the award for the company, left to right, were Joseph Rippl, Walter E. Selinow, secretary-treasurer, and Margaret Heinz.

'Ears Were Ringing'

Pilot Visiting Neenah After Record Flight

BY ALLAN EKVALL

NEENAH — "My ears were ringing for three days afterwards," Capt. Richard H. Coan remarked about his world-record flight of last week.

Now on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman A. Coan, 803 S. Park Ave., with his wife and 10-month-old son Jeffrey, the former Menasha High (1950) and Lawrence College (1955) graduate said the "newer helmets keep out much of the noise" but haven't been able to latch on to one yet.

The vibration wasn't so bad, he added as he recalled his flight of a week ago Wednesday in which he set a new world's record of 656,258 miles over a closed course of 625,464 miles over a closed course set in June, 1960.

Within the next day to a week, possibly even today, he said, this

Former Pastor In Twin Cities Elected Bishop

MENASHA — The Rev. Albert A. Chambers, rector of St. Thomas Episcopal Church of Neenah-Menasha from 1936 to 1942, has accepted election as seventh bishop of the Diocese of Springfield, Ill. Consecration rites will be held sometime in November.

During his rectorship in Wisconsin he was chairman of the department of Christian education of the Diocese of Fond du Lac and also chairman of the board of examining chaplains. He took the initiative in establishing the Neenah-Menasha Council of Social Agencies and was its first president. He also was active in organizing the Fox River valley regional council of Girl Scouting.

same helicopter will try for a sixth world's record. Another pilot will attempt to set a new distance record for point-to-point or straight line flying. The exact day depends upon the weather but it could be any day now.

Capt. Coan counted about 20 cars wending their way down the remote road in California's Inyo National Forest which ran parallel to the closed 25 mile course used for his record-setting flight. He flew back and forth between two pylons, starting out about 4:50 a.m. and touching down on that highway at noon.

That highway was picked as an emergency landing strip and was put to that use.

"I knew I had the Russian record beat by 1 per cent as I rounded the pylon to end the 26th lap," Capt. Coan mentioned. "The idea was to try to beat it by 5 per cent so that the record might last longer."

After he landed the fuel-exhausted helicopter, a fuel truck drove up, refueled the craft and then another pilot drove it away to the nearby landing strip while he received the congratulations from those witnessing the world-record breaking flight — but not until after photographers had gotten their pictures.

Now stationed with the Eastern Air Rescue Detachment No. 52 at Charleston Air Force Base in South Carolina, he previously served at Lake Charles, La., and at Goose Bay, Labrador.

The detachment's responsibility includes military and commercial aircraft crashes within a 75-mile radius of the base. "We have the time from alarm to in the air with crew and picking up fire suppression kit down to 2 1/2 minutes now and could cut it even lower if we could eliminate the 100 yard run from the ready room to the helicopter."

Golf Match Results Announced

In the second flight, Mrs. Leo McCoy was the winner in the match with Mrs. Richard Roudsbush; Mrs. Harry Binek won over Mrs. Erwin Rehbein and Mrs. George Stoehr defeated Mrs. Orville Prokash.

Pairings
Second round pairings for the first flight are Mrs. Wamsley and Mrs. Joseph Verrier; Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Harley Loker; Mrs. Zwickey and Mrs. Donald Wedin; Mrs. Harold Hobbs and Mrs. L. M. Warrick; Mrs. Les Seborra and Mrs. Don Wirth; Mrs. Ray Moses and Mrs. Alvin Lafflin; Mrs. Ole Jorgensen and Mrs. Paul Zimmerman and Mrs. Walter Bylewski and Mrs. Robert Ogg.

Pairings for the second flight are Mrs. McCoy and Mrs. Donald Holverson; Mrs. Binek and Mrs. Erwin Alberts; Mrs. Stoehr and Mrs. Arthur Bobb; Mrs. Joseph Parker and Mrs. Andrew Hopfensperger; Mrs. Richard Farley and Mrs. Louis Haase; Mrs. Joseph Suess and Mrs. Fred Hathaway; Mrs. William Herriott and Mrs. Frieda Hosterman and Mrs. Richard Spangenberg and Mrs. James Mills.

Neenah School Principal Dies Of Heart Attack

NEENAH — Winifred E. Stoekli, 47, of 730 Higgins Ave., principal of Trinity Lutheran Grade School, died unexpectedly Tuesday at Williamsburg, Va., after suffering a heart attack while on a vacation trip.

A graduate of Dr. Martin Luther College at New Ulm, Minn., he had been a teacher for 25 years and had taught at the Neenah parochial school since 1940. Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at Trinity Lutheran Church with the Rev. G. A. Schaefer, pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery. Friends may call at the Westgor Funeral Home from 4 p.m. Friday to 11 a.m. Saturday and at the church from noon Saturday to the hour of the service at the church.

Stadium Cost Would Total $6,370 Yearly

Council Waits for More Information On Proposed Field

MENASHA — Estimated upkeep costs on a 5,000-seat athletic stadium like the one proposed for Menasha should run about $6,370 a year, estimates a Milwaukee engineering firm.

The estimate was presented Wednesday to the eight-man committee formed to study the proposed Nathan Calder Athletic Field project by LeFebvre - Wiggins, Inc.

The committee adjourned its second meeting after an hour Wednesday night because more information is needed from several sources, including Banta Co. Foundation, which has donated 10 acres of land at 11th and Warsaw streets and offered $25,000 cash toward construction costs. The land is worth $50,000, the committee estimates.

July 2 Deadline

The information must be in by the July 2 council committee of the whole meeting, Mayor John Klein and Ald. Richard Hansen reminded.

The council will need the information so it can decide July 3 whether to go on record favoring the proposed $200,000 bond issue necessary to finance the stadium project.

If one of the 12 aldermen favor the bond issue, the question will go before the city's voters in the Sept. 11 primary election for final approval or rejection. Earlier this month, McMahon Engineering Co., presented a maximum cost estimate of $193,029, including all fees and contingencies.

Hansen, on the uses and benefits of the stadium, reported on an inquiry about the Neenah stadium's yearly use. He told the committee that Neenah schools use the 1,500-seat stadium about 16 days a year for varsity, "B"

Rejects Recommendation

Neenah Will Expand Library Building

NEENAH—The Common Council by an 8 to 1 vote Wednesday night rejected the Plans Commission's recommendation for relocating the Neenah Public Library building and expanding the library at its present site.

The only dissenting vote was that of Ald. Harold Young, the Council's representative on the Plans Commission, who presented the majority and minority reports of the commission.

State law requires the Plans Commission to approve the design and location of any public building, Ald. Young stated. His motion for acceptance of the commission's report failed to get a second and Ald. Warren Sanders moved to reject the report and that the present site and architectural design be accepted.

Ald. Ewald Miller was absent. The Plans Commission in its majority report cited nine objections which it felt did not justify expansion on the present site. It agreed to the need for expansion of the library facilities.

The minority report of the commission stated that the costs of a new building would be $150,000 to $200,000 to relocate, a cost it regarded as unjustified, that a central location such as at present is more convenient, that parking facilities could be increased by purchasing the home at the corner of Oak and E. Wisconsin Avenue, and that the heavier flow of traffic meant a slower speed of cars at the library.

The minority group also felt the architects had done a good job in integrating the old and the new and that the result will be an attractive building.

NEENAH — Harold Case has been named chairman of arrangements for the 1962 annual meeting of Neenah chapter, American Red Cross, to be held in September.

Don Hruska, chapter chairman, appointed the annual meeting committee Wednesday evening at the June board session in the Red Cross headquarters. Other members of the committee are Charles Littlefield, Ted Yonan, Mrs. Thomas Sensiba and Charlotte McIntyre.

More Liberal Policy On Car Allowances Defeated in Appleton

Payments Would Have Continued During Vacations, Sick Leaves

An attempt by the personnel off extends beyond the normal committee to establish a more liberal car allowance policy for Appleton city workers was defeated by the council 11 to 5 Wednesday night.

Committeemen had recommended employees who get monthly car allowances should be paid the full amount regardless of time off for vacation, emergency leave or sick leave, unless the time with the Republican legislators' decision to shear Forest and Florence counties from his Eighth Congressional District and to transfer them to a reorganized Seventh District, represented by Congressman Melvin R. Laird, Marshfield.

Only Congressman

Laird was the only congressman who came to Madison to take part in the reapportionment planning directly. He was represented as being not entirely pleased with the stretching of his constituency to the Michigan border with the addition of five far northern counties and the subtraction of Green Lake, Adams and Marquette counties in the south, but willing to accept the arrangement without a public protest.

Sen. Walter Hollander, Rosendale, speaking for the Republican State Senate caucus, explained that it was decided to establish Outagamie County as a single Senate district partly because it was not given the third assembly seat which it might have claimed under the redistricting of the lower house.

Outagamie County, with a population of more than 100,000, will be slightly below the arithmetic average for senate districts, but somewhat above the average for two seats in the lower house, it was explained.

Originally the Republicans proposed to remove Calumet County from the Winnebago County senate district and to put Calumet with Sheboygan County for a new senate seat. Sen. W. A. Draheim, Neenah, is the incumbent senator. The plan was abandoned yesterday without explanation.

first, but in talking to city workers its unfairness became evident. That system would have paid 10 cents a mile up to 500 miles, and four cents a mile after that.

Possible Faults Noted

She contended that such a system would encourage workers to drive unnecessary miles or even to lie on their expense sheets. The personnel committee is trying to get all the hourly paid, summer and parttime help, who use their cars, on a daily mileage allowance, she said.

Ald. George Buckley observed that insurance and depreciation alone on a car amount to about $750 a year or $62 a month. "That's more than the highest car allowance we pay," he said. The highest allowance is $55 a month.

Car Pool Costly

Ald. Douglas Ogilvie, a member of the committee, said the group studied the possibility of a pool of city cars for the workers who needed them. "It became obvious very quickly that the costs involved in that system were far too great, and we felt the people who have to provide their own cars should be compensated," he said.

Ald. Allan Sonkowsky said after the council meeting that because workers have their allowances reduced when they have time off, then when they are called out for extra duty at night they should get additional car allowance.

Ald. Alvin Tews pointed out that in November, 1958, the council adopted a resolution not to pay allowances during vacations and leaves of absence.

He requested a thorough study of the present system.

Widely Scattered Showers are expected in northern and Gulf and south Atlantic coastal states Thursday. Cool weather is predicted for northern and central states and for New England. Warm temperatures are expected in the south central states.

Debate Held Over Survey

nesday. The cost will be slightly higher, he said.

The additional time and cost resulted, he said, because the work grew as the survey was being made.

Stuewe said some of the sewer, manhole and catch basin measurements in the old records for older sections of the city were wrong and his men had to make new ones before any calculations could be made.

He said his men had to spend considerable time looking for old manholes that were buried under asphalt street surfaces or under five and six feet of debris and dirt in some of the ravines.

Stuewe said that, before his field men could begin the survey, they had to establish 150 primary and 900 secondary bench markers. The city had only two markers, he said.

He said every sewer in the city had to be checked for size and flow, which determines their capacities.

Discrepancies in Data

Many sewers, manholes and catch basins had to be rechecked, he said, because there were discrepancies in data accumulated in the field and that recorded in old city records.

The survey crew checked inlets at 1,166 intersections and 4,109 manholes.

All of the data now is being transferred by city engineers to duplicate copies of 49 quarter section maps. There are 52,470 separate items of information that must be put on the set of maps, Stuewe said.

All of the field work is completed, except where rechecking might be necessary, he told the aldermen.

After the quarter section maps are completed, it will take the Penner-Brey firm four weeks to study the survey data, prepare recommendations and make cost estimates. The survey was started Sept. 18, 1961, and stopped Dec. 15, 1961 because of heavy snow. Field work was resumed April 9 and completed April 23, 1962.

441 Summer Students Enroll at Kimberly

KIMBERLY—A total of 441 students have signed for the Kimberly summer school program, according to Raymond Hamann, superintendent of schools.

The largest turnout was in the music course, with 150 students enrolling. Other enrollments included science and math, 106; French one, two, and three, 96; personal typing, 75; driver education, 62; English, 24, and Great Brooks, 28. All are six-week courses.

Prof. W. H. Burger, Neenah Man's Father, Dies at Evanston

NEENAH — Prof. William H. Burger Sr., 88, retired head of the department of civil engineering at Northwestern University, died Tuesday in Evanston, Ill.

Memorial services will be Friday in First Methodist Church, Evanston. A memorial scholarship fund is being established through the Northwestern engineering school.

He was a professor at Evanston from 1910 to 1939. After his graduation from the University of Colorado, he served 10 years with the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Survivors are his son, William Jr., Adella Beach, Neenah, and his daughter, Mrs. G. B. Robinson, Lake Villa, Ill., an alumna of Lawrence College.

Jordan Enters Sheriff Race

Former Officer Seeking Seat on Republican Ticket

OSHKOSH — Victor Jordan, former Winnebago County sheriff, this morning took out nomination papers to run for sheriff on the Republican ticket.

Jordan, who lives at 2505 Oregon St., Oshkosh, will oppose the incumbent sheriff, Richard T. "Bud" Lowell, for the Republican nomination. Lowell is now in his first term and is seeking reelection.

Jordan served as sheriff from 1953 to 1957 after having been a county policeman for 11 years.

Rufin Skiba, 509 Isabella St., Neenah, was the first to file nomination papers with County Clerk Nell A. Hoffmann for election at the fall elections. He is seeking the Third District assembly post on the Democratic ticket.

Skiba is active in labor organizations in the Twin Cities, being president both of the Neenah-Menasha Labor Council and the Kimberly - Clark Corp., Neenah Local No. 482 of the Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers Union, AFL-CIO. He also is a veteran of World War II.

Green Bay to Construct Ramp

GREEN BAY — A request for a $1.3-million revenue bond issue to finance purchase of land and construction of a 600-car parking ramp on the downtown Fox River shore was headed today for the July session of the city council. The proposal was advanced on a 4-1 vote Wednesday by the parking utility after the utility received a report that seven parcels of land needed for the multi-level ramp were now under option.

Council Sets Neenah Street Work Program

Paving, Gutter Scheduled for Four Routes

NEENAH — Bituminous concrete paving of E. Wisconsin Avenue from Oak Street to Lake Winnebago as well as curb and gutter and bituminous paving of E. Cecil Street from Congress Street to S. Park Avenue, Richard Avenue, Third Street and Winnebago Heights was authorized at Wednesday night's Common Council meeting.

A move by Ald. Richard Jones to remove Richard Avenue from the list for this year because of the evenly divided sentiment of its residents lost in a 5 to 4 vote. He cited the street was only a block in length and that next year he hoped Claire and Geiger Streets could be added.

Voting with Jones in seeking removal of the street were Ald. Kenneth Parman, Warren Sanders and Harold Young. Absent was Ald. Ewald Miller.

Ald. Aaron Dix cast the only dissenting vote against Third Street being left in the 1962 program, cautioning that because of the hospital project this street should be deferred until 1963.

Set Cecil Street Width

The width of E. Cecil Street from Congress Street to S. Park Avenue was made 36 feet by a 5 to 4 vote with the negative votes being those of Ald. Carl Coenen, Dix, Wilmoit Houpt, and Kenneth Parman. Ald. Coenen remarked the rest of the street was 40 feet wide and even wider west of the railroad tracks.

The assessment rates are $1 per front foot for the resurfacing of E. Wisconsin Avenue and $4.75 per front foot for the curb and gutter and blacktop surfacing of the other streets.

The Council ordered last year's sidewalk contractor, John Skotzke, to repair certain defective sidewalks or the city would do it and take the cost out of money owed Skotzke but withheld from him.

Recommended wage rates for future contracts of $2.15 an hour for common labor, $2.25 for intermediate labor and $2.92 for skilled labor were approved by the Council.

Construction of sidewalk also was ordered in for the block on Maple Street between Edgewood Drive and Alcott drive on the west side of the street.

Hearing in Murder Case Postponed

OSHKOSH — Another postponement in hearing the plea of George Schuster was granted this morning when his defense attorney announced they had an alibi defense.

The new date for the 38-year-old former Racine man's arraignment on a third degree murder charge in the April 17 death of Mrs. May Gokey is July 10.

Schuster's attorney, Sidney Mertz, said he was informed of the alibi Sunday night and did not have time to prepare for its presentation today. Under law an alibi defense must be presented at the arraignment and prior notice given to the district attorney.

Mertz also reported he has not yet obtained a copy of the autopsy report. He said he understood the copy was still in the possession of Schuster's previous attorney, Allan Cain.

Mrs. Gokey, 61, was found dead in her house April 21 by James Mathwig, operator of the next door Vice President Tavern which she owned.

come into existence following the merger. Planning has been such that the mechanism of the new church can go into action almost immediately.

ULCA churches in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan which formerly participated in a five-state regional group, the Synod of the Northwest, will now form a synod with the churches of the three other merging bodies. The first convention of this unit will be held in Neenah in September.

The churches in the Fox Valley area to be affected by the merger are Trinity Lutheran and Our Saviour Lutheran, Appleton; St. Timothy Lutheran, Menasha; St. Paul Lutheran and St. Mark Lutheran, Neenah; St. John Lutheran and St. Andrew Lutheran, Oshkosh; Our Saviour Lutheran, Fond du Lac; First United Lutheran, Sheboygan; and Calvary Lutheran, Two Rivers, and Resurrection Lutheran, Green Bay.

The constituting convention will elect a president of the new church.

Stock Selling
Orderly Process

BY SYLVIA PORTER
In the weeks since the historic stock crash of late May, pictures of the floor of the New York Stock Exchange have appeared all over the world.
On this floor—two-thirds the size of a football field in a half five stories high—an awesome total of more than 24 million shares of stock changed hands on the two chaotic days of May 28 and 29. On this floor, the buy and sell orders of millions of Americans are being executed and fortunes have been lost (and made too) in recent days.
To this floor, accompanied by Keith Funston, president of the NYSE, and a group of NYSE vice presidents, I went last week to watch exactly what happens when you place an order to buy or sell stock through a member firm of the NYSE.

Open Market Place
Let's say you, Mr. Jones, want to buy 100 shares of ZYX stock today and you, Mr. Smith, want to sell the 100 shares of ZYX you own. For every buyer, there is a seller in this open auction market—place and vice versa. Now here goes.
You, Jones, have phoned your broker, told him to buy ZYX and you, Smith, have phoned your broker telling him to sell. Both of you want your transaction done "at the market," which is the way most orders are handled, and which mean you're trading at the best price you can get today.
Upon hearing from you, each of your brokers immediately transmits your orders to your firm's order room. From there, the message is flashed to your firm's telephone clerk stationed on the floor.
Annunciator Boards
The telephone clerks then send signals via two huge annunciator boards on the walls of the exchange hall to the members representing your firms on the floor that there are messages for them. Each member goes to his clerk, one gets Jones' order to buy ZYX, the other gets Smith's order to sell.
Jones' broker hurries to the wooden, U-shaped post at which ZYX is traded (the rule is "you gotta walk, not run") and Smith's broker does the same. Around ZYX's trading post and 17 others are clustered most of the 2,200 men on the floor of the NYSE on a typical day now.
"How's ZYX?" asks Jones' Ancient Idiom
"55 to 54," says the specialist who handles ZYX stock and is responsible for keeping an orderly market in ZYX. That ancient idiom of the auction market means $55 is the highest price at which anyone is willing to buy ZYX and $54.25 is the lowest price at which anyone is willing to sell the stock.

"I'll give an eighth for 100," says Jones' broker, meaning he is willing to pay up to 55 1/8 for 100 shares.
"Sold," says Smith's broker, meaning he's willing to take one-eighth less because it's the best deal he can make.
Little Pieces of Paper
It is done. Each member then jots on a little piece of paper the badge number of the man with whom he has just traded ZYX, the name of the other's firm, the total of stock traded, the price.
Each member then reports back to his telephone clerk what has occurred, the telephone clerk relays the message to your broker's order room, the message goes to the broker with whom you originally talked, then you are informed about the transaction on a confirmation slip sent by mail and in between you may get a phone call.
Meanwhile, an employee of the NYSE called a "reporter" and stationed at ZYX's trading post also has jotted down on a third piece of paper the ticker symbol of ZYX, the volume traded (100 shares), the price at which the deal was made ($55 1/8).
Records Sale
This third piece of paper is placed in a plastic cartridge, which is inserted in a pneumatic tube and shot up to a ticker operator sitting five stories above the floor. When the slip on ZYX arrives at this ticker plant, it is removed from the carrier tube, time-stamped and carried on a short belt conveyor to a ticker operator — always a woman — who is seated at a ticker machine that looks like a typewriter. She records the sale on the keyboard — ZYX 55 1/8 — thereby perforating a six-channel punch tape.
Under normal circumstances, in a couple of minutes or so, that transaction — ZYX 55 1/8 — appears on the 3,800 familiar ticker

Molner Suggests Ways
To Stop Bed Wetting

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.
Dear Dr. Molner: My 4 1/2-year-old son is still in diapers at night. He has been trained, so far as daytime goes, since he was 2 1/2, and occasionally will stay dry all night, sometimes several nights at a time, but this condition never lasts.
These "dry" Dr. Molner nights usually occur when I have given him a strong incentive, either a bribe or a threat, usually the former. He wants to "be a big boy," but it doesn't seem to bother him that his younger brother, 2 1/2, is dry all night — Mrs. A B
Stopping Bed Wetting
Here are four suggestions.
One, I know of an instance in which the youngster was told that the diaper service was being stopped. "Say goodbye to the man. This is his last trip." The boy didn't need diapers after that, but as long as they were available, he used them.
Two, restrict fluids after 4 p m

Three, if still no success, go the other way. Urge fluids after 4 p.m., in an effort to develop bladder control. You'll have to get him up, say about 11 p.m. or midnight. Measure the volume of urine to show the increase in amount as he gets better control. He should achieve 10 to 14 ounces. When he gains the ability to go part of the night with a lot of fluid, it should not be difficult for him to get through the whole night when you go back, for a time, to restricted fluids in the afternoon.
Four, make sure, by having a urine examination, that there is no kidney infection or other defect.
New Frying Pan Harmless
Dear Dr. Molner I enjoy using one of these new coated frying pans but have been told there can be ill effects. Any comments, please? — Mrs. M R.
There's no harm in ordinary use of such pans. Overheat them and you will disturb the coating which will make the food taste so bad you can't eat it anyway. So use your pan with confidence and care.

Lush Strawberries Lead the Parade of Fresh Fruits That Spell Summertime

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

One of the greatest joys of summer is the steady march of fresh fruits across the season . . . starting with the first plump and rosy strawberry in back-yard patch or garden. Although shipped-in berries . . . of excellent flavor this year . . . have been available in Fox Cities area markets for several weeks, it's the homegrown ones that seem to separate spring from summer in Wisconsin.

Today's homemaker is a lucky woman on two counts when it comes to strawberries. She has a Mr. Wilson of Albany, N. Y., to thank for the modern abundance of American cultivated strawberries . . . and if she has a freezer at hand, she can pack a big supply of berries at the peak of the crop for use later on.

Before the New York horticulturist introduced his Wilson Albany's in 1854, there were only the wild strawberries and strains of European varieties grown in home gardens for an all too short two-week season. But Wilson's firm-fleshed, large berry took to all types of soils throughout the land and thus started the first widespread commercial cultivation of the fruit from Florida northward to Canada with a prolonged season from early spring through August. Today, more than 1,000 varieties are sold in the United States.

As for freezing, we suggest "putting them up" without sugar. Fresh from garden or store, the berries need only a thorough washing and hulling . . . then pop whole into plastic bags or pint containers. If preferred, the berries may be crushed or sliced with a quarter-cup of sugar to each pint. When frozen whole, with or without sugar, the berries can serve many purposes from garnishes to sauce.

A most versatile fruit, strawberries combine well with other fruits to make breakfast cereals sparkle . . . whole and sliced berries make a beautiful dessert garnish or the perfect fruit for a meringue torte. But the one recipe to try for sure is Strawberry Glazed Ham . . . here crushed pineapple and strawberries mingle their flavors as a superb topping and filling for two center slices of ham, baked to a delicious turn.

Strawberry Meringue Torte

- Meringue
4 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup cornflakes, crushed to make 1/3 cup crumbs

- Cereal Flake Crunch
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 cups cornflakes, lightly crushed to make 1½ cups

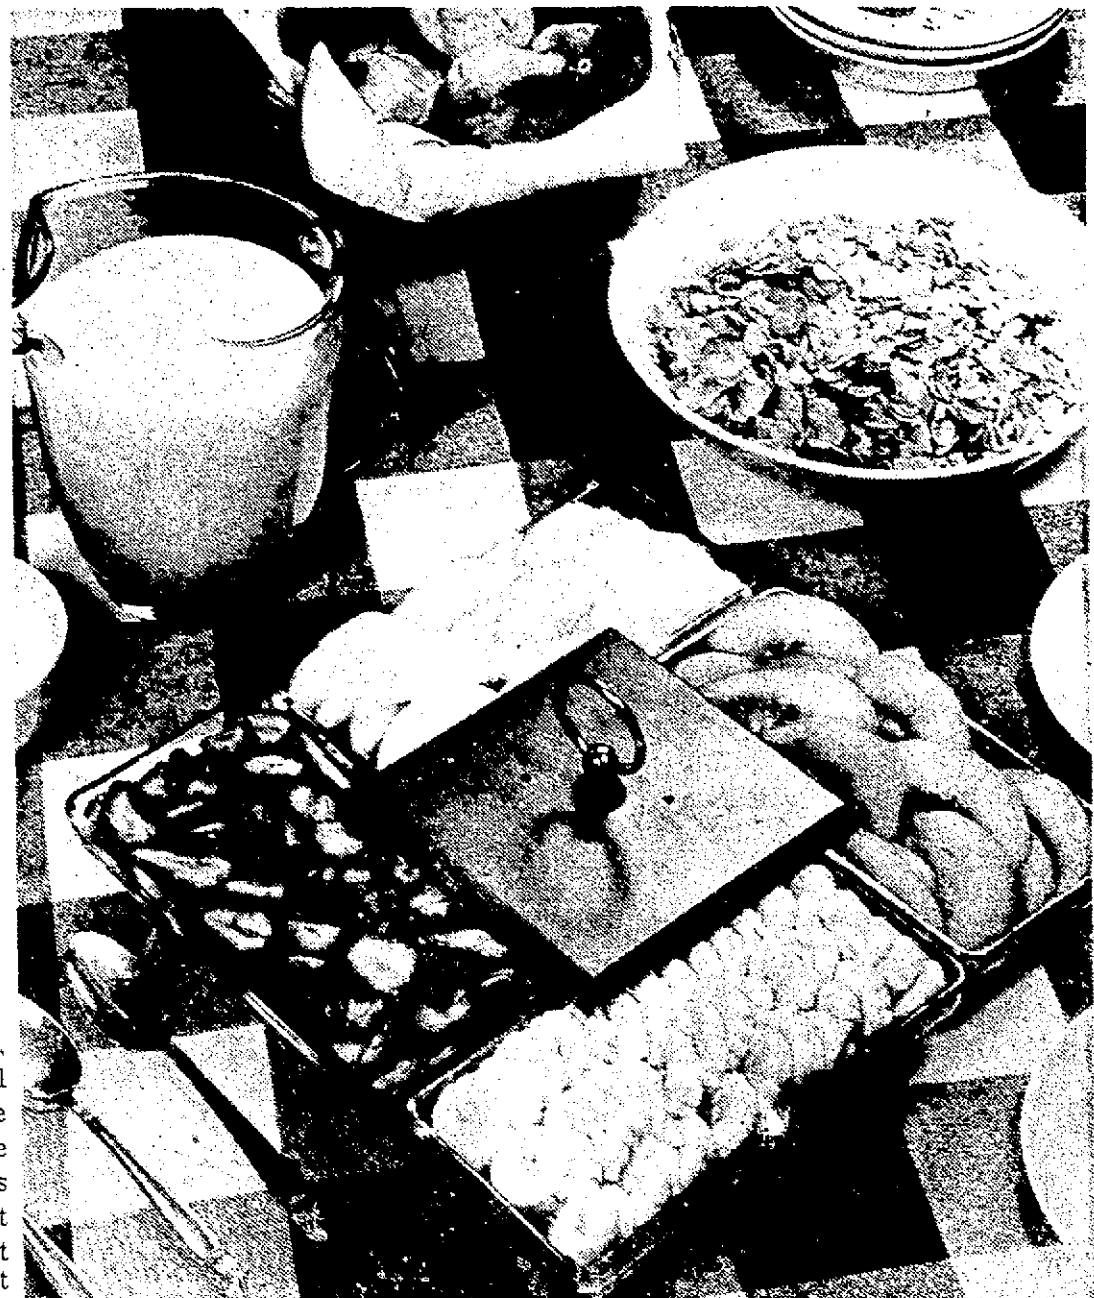

- Strawberry Glaze
1½ cups strawberries
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch

- Filling
1 or 2 pints ice cream
1½ cups sliced strawberries

To make two-layer meringue: Beat egg whites until foamy; add salt and cream of tartar; beat until mixture holds soft peaks. Add sugar, one tablespoon at a time, beating to stiff peak stage. Carefully fold in vanilla and cereal crumbs. Spread in even layers in two eight-inch layer pans, greased and floured. Bake in very slow oven, 275 degrees, until firm and lightly browned, about one and a half hours. Cool in pans for at least 30 minutes. Cut around edge of pan with sharp knife to loosen meringues. Remove from pans and cool thoroughly out of drafts.

To make the crunch: Melt butter in fry pan over low heat; add sugars, granulated and brown, and stir until bubbly. Add cereal flakes; stir carefully until flakes are evenly coated with sugar mixture. Spread out in thin layer on waxed paper. Separate

Turn to Page 8, Col. 3

Sliced Strawberries, pears, peaches and bananas all go with any of the ready-to-eat cereals. The fruit may be prepared the night before without any danger of discoloring if the slices are well coated with the new ascorbic mixture on the market. One teaspoon of the mixture is dissolved in two tablespoons of water for each two cups of fruit. Slice the fruit into the solution, then toss to coat each piece. Cover the fruit and store in the refrigerator overnight. Turn fruit into serving dishes while preparing breakfast the next morning and let each member of the family choose his favorite.

Any Culinary Superlative is the word for Strawberry Glazed Ham. Surprisingly easy to prepare, two thick slices of ham are topped with fruit in a sort of sandwich arrangement, then baked. Crushed, drained pineapple is spooned onto the first layer of ham and a mixture of the canned pineapple juice and strawberries on the top slice.

Strawberry Meringue Torte with its luscious topping and filling of ice cream and cereal crunch is one of those special desserts both beautiful and delicious. Sliced berries are arranged on the two meringue layers to resemble flower petals.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

HATS OPTIONAL; GLOVES, NO

A friend recently gave a tea for a bride-to-be. In the receiving line were those two plus the mother, the groom-to-be and the bride's sister. All five wore hats and long gloves on the advice of the wedding consultant. The guests wore hats and gloves but those who assisted did not. Following the wedding ceremony, there will be an afternoon reception at the home of the bride's parents. Some of us who are friends of the mother have been asked to assist in directing guests and to serve refreshments. We too have been advised to wear hats and gloves while assisting. What is proper?

Louise Davis Answers:

You didn't make it clear as to who advised you to wear hats and gloves. If the mother did, the only thing you can do is to comply with her wishes. If the wedding consultant handed out the advice, I can go along with her "decree" to wear the hats if it is agreeable with the mother, but it would be utterly foolish to wear the gloves. Even as assistants, you will still be classified as guests and would be entitled to wear the hats. If nothing has been said by the mother, I suggest that you ask her if she prefers that you do wear hats. I could be inclined to say nothing about the gloves and just assume that you will perform your duties without them as any sensible person would do.

Lloyd Matheson Jr. Weds Miss Nelson

SCANDINAVIA — Lloyd Ed. Matheson Jr. claimed Miss Carol Louise Nelson in a 3 p.m. double ring wedding ceremony Saturday at Scandinavia Lutheran Church. The Rev. Eldon C. Person officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans C. Nelson, route 1. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Matheson, Waupaca, are parents of the bridegroom. The senior Mr. Matheson is mayor of Waupaca. Maid of honor was Miss Rose Knutson, Ogdensburg, Miss Joan Nelson, West Allis, sister of the bride, and Miss Carol Matheson, Waupaca, the bridegroom's sister, were bridesmaids.

Ronald Johanknecht, Waupaca, attended as best man. Groomsman were Jack Hackbarth, West Allis, a cousin of the bridegroom, and the bride's brother, Kenneth Nelson. Ushering duties were shared by Roger Nelson, a brother of the bride, and Thomas Cesario, Madison.

A reception was held at the church.

The bride attended Wisconsin State College, Stevens Point, and will enter the University of Wisconsin, Madison, in the fall. Mr. Matheson is a senior at the University of Wisconsin.

The couple will reside at Stratton Lake for the summer and move to Madison in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Matheson Jr.

What sort of gestures would you use if you were playing the South hand at four hearts? Assume that East can be flimflammed if you hide the salt you're planning to sprinkle on his tail feathers.

If you play a low diamond from dummy at the first trick, your bird will fly the coop. East will

Girl Scouts Tell Bake Sale Plans

KAUKAUNA — Mrs. Elmer Dorr, Girl Scout neighborhood chairman, has announced that benefit bake sales will be held Friday at supermarkets at 215 Dodge St., 121 W. Third St., and at 150 W. sugar coated flakes into crunchy pieces. Cool.

To make glaze: Combine berries and sugar; mash mixture and let stand about 30 minutes. Blend in cornstarch. Cook, stirring constantly until thick, and clear. Cool.

To assemble torte: Top two meringue layers with equal amounts of ice cream, sliced strawberries and crunch. Place one layer on top of the other. Drizzle with part of the glaze. Serve the remaining glaze in a bowl or serving boat with the dessert. Recipes makes eight to 10 servings.

Lemon Fluff Dessert
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1 cup hot water
1/4 cup sugar
dash salt
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/3 cup nonfat dry milk
1/3 cup cold water
1 pint fresh strawberries

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add hot water and stir until gelatin dissolves. Add sugar and salt; stir to dissolve. Add lemon juice; chill mixture until it begins to thicken.

Sprinkle dry milk over one-third cup cold water. Beat with electric mixer until stiff, about 10 minutes.

Beat chilled gelatin mixture until fluffy, then beat in whipped dry milk. Pour into two-quart mold. Chill until stiff. Unmold and serve with whole, washed strawberries. Recipe makes eight to 10 servings.

Strawberry Glazed Ham
1 quart fresh strawberries
2 center-cut ham slices, 1 inch thick
1 (No. 2) can crushed pineapple, drained

Reserved pineapple juice

Mix washed and hulled strawberries with reserved pineapple juice from canned crushed pineapple. Let stand for a little while.

Place one slice of ham in a shallow baking dish. Spread drained crushed pineapple over the ham slice. Top pineapple layer with second ham slice. Spoon strawberry mixture over second ham slice. Bake for 30 to 40 minutes at 350 degrees. Spoon drippings over the top of the ham several times during the cooking time.

This recipe is equally good with frozen strawberries. One 10-ounce package of strawberries may be used, but defrost them before using.

take the king of diamonds and will see that you have two diamond tricks coming to you and that one of them may provide a discard.

This may frighten East into cashing tricks while the cashing is good. East will switch to spades, and the defenders will get two spade tricks. Eventually West defeats the contract with his trump trick.

Best Chance

Your best chance is to conceal your diamond strength at the first trick. Play the queen of diamonds from dummy, just as though you didn't have the jack of diamonds in your hand.

If the diamond finesse wins you can afford to lose two spades and one trump. You don't need a third diamond trick unless the trumps break 5-0. It's more important to take out insurance against a 4-1 trump break than the far more unlikely 5-0 break.

If the queen of diamonds loses to East's king, East may see no danger. You have made no threatening motions, and East is reluctant to start the spades in view of dummy's length in that suit.

If East naively returns a diamond, you win with the jack and draw two rounds of trumps with the ace and king. Then you discard a spade on the ace of diamonds, draw another trump and cheerfully concede one spade and one trump.

Daily Question

As dealer, you hold: S Q 6, H A Q 10 6 2, D J 2, C K J 10 9. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. You have 13 points in high cards and 2 points for the two doubletons, but the hand is not really worth an opening bid. Avoid giving full value to doubleton queens and jacks; they're simply not worth it. You would gladly trade the queen of spades and the jack of diamonds for a king, and then you would open the bidding.

Recipient of Office Gift Regrets Previous Opposition to Practice

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several months ago someone wrote to you lambasting office collections. The writer complained that every week somebody came around to collect 50 cents for flowers, a baby gift or a retirement present. He signed himself "Bled White."

Landers

When I read that letter I agreed with the writer because I, too, had been hit so often. Something happened last week that changed my mind. I landed in the hospital. It's difficult to explain the wonderful, warm glow that passed over me when the nurse brought in a beautiful bouquet of red roses. The card read "Hurry back. We miss you." Then I saw 14 signatures of those who had chipped in for the flowers. I'm not a sentimental guy but I think I wiped away a couple of tears when the nurse left the room. I'll never feel imposed on again when a collection is made at our office. I'm deeply ashamed it took a lesson like this to teach me.—Other Foot DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband thinks your column is rich. He reads it religiously and often says "Listen to this—" then he'll read a letter aloud and say, "Doesn't this one sound like So and So?" It's strange how people see everyone else's faults but they never recognize their own. You've had a few letters lately about husbands who ignore their wives' physical needs but my cold fish doesn't catch the drift. We have three children and a lovely home. My husband doesn't drink or gamble or look at other women. He says he loves me but he shows no sign of affection unless I make the first move. Maybe I'm a romantic fool but I don't believe it's the woman's place to be aggressive in love-making. It makes me feel like a hussy. I hope you print this letter. If you do I promise to say "Listen to this one. I wrote it." — Sparrow

Dear Sparrow: Some men need a woman who is aggressive in love-making. Apparently you drew this type of a man. There is no need to feel like a hussy if you must make the first move. Some of the most interesting women in history were aggressive types. When the situation calls for this approach the smart woman recognizes it and is equal to it. DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our teen-age daughter was visiting in the home of a girl friend last evening and the girl's parents got into an argument. It was embarrassing for our daughter to be in on a family quarrel. She asked her friend to drive her home. The friend refused, saying all families have arguments and that she should pay no attention. Our daughter stayed and had a miserable evening. I told her this morning she should have telephoned home and asked her father or me to come and get her. She says this would have been rude. I say it would have been better manners than staying around and witnessing a family fight. May we have your opinion? — Triangle

Dear Triangle: It depends on the nature of the fight. If it was just a few moments of disagreement, your daughter should have ignored it. If, however, it was a knock-down-drag-out battle, your daughter should have called home for transportation. To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1962)

Student to Attend Holland Council

KAUKAUNA — Karen Lindemuth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Lindemuth, 212 Island St., will leave Saturday for the first part of a trip to Rotterdam, Holland, where she will be an ambassador at the International Congregational Council. Sponsored by the United Church of Christ, she will be one of 28 students from the United States making the trip to the council, which will run from July 4 through 12.

After an orientation session at Pottstown, Pa., the students will travel to New York from where they will leave by plane, arriving in Scotland June 26. Besides attending the council, students will be given the opportunity to visit various places in Europe and will return to this country July 27.

Miss Lindemuth is a sophomore at Lakeland College, Sheboygan.

Kiwanis Club May be Formed At Kimberly

KIMBERLY — An organizational meeting leading to the establishment of a Kiwanis Club in the community will be held at 6 p.m. Monday at Jerry's Lanes.

This will not be a dinner meeting. It will be open to any male resident of the village who is interested in the formation of a service club.

Representatives of area Kiwanis clubs will be on hand together with Judge Gustave Keller, past state governor of Kiwanis; Charles Derr, Fond du Lac, governor elect; Russell Williams, Oshkosh, lt. governor, and Circuit Judge Arnold Cane of Winnebago County.

The Little Chute Kiwanis unit is serving as sponsoring club. An earlier meeting attracted 15 individuals. Twenty-five are needed for formation of a club.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Make-Up Camouflage

A lovely writes: Wearing swim suits causes me embarrassment, as my legs are webbed with spider, blue veins. Is there any way to hide the trouble?

For all with the problem, here's the answer: Veins of this kind can be completely hidden with opaque make-up, and there are several to choose from. One comes in cake form and is applied with a damp sponge. The other is a cream and is used in combination with a finishing powder.

Both are available in a range of shades. For good coverage, you require a fairly dark shade. You may need two — a dark and a lighter tone — particularly when the veins are widespread.

You apply the dark shade rather heavily on the veined areas. Then feather the edges, so as to blend with the skin. And do take your time, or you will get a blotchy job. If the veins are confined to one spot, a single application may turn the trick. In any case, it should be allowed to set well.

Whether the veins are concentrated or widely distributed, there is a possibility that the dark "cover" shade will appear more noticeable than the problem itself. And that is where the lighter shade is brought into play, and smoothed lightly onto the entire surface of the leg. The next step, if you use a cream, is a pressing of finishing powder. Really press it on, and then whisk off the excess.

As a result your legs look as a bathing beauty's should. And you can take them swimming, for the make-up is waterproof. Just be sure to pat the legs dry after dips.

The Ailing House

How Can Scuffing be Corrected?

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: We plan to have a fireplace installed in our living room. Is it advisable to have this connected to the furnace chimney?

A: Two fires connected to a single flue will interfere with both drafts. There should never be more than one opening into a flue.

Asphalt Tile Trouble

Q: I am having some trouble with asphalt tile in the playroom: tile is on a concrete slab below ground level, two years old. Recently installed a ping pong table and in spite of good washing and waxing of the floor (always with a good wax, although not one specifically for asphalt tile), it takes only a little playing to not only wear off the wax, but also to wear the tile noticeably; the green tile tracks green dust over the house afterwards.

The tile appears to be decomposing. Even before the ping pong playing, the floor needed frequent waxing. We recently visited friends who have asphalt tile in the basement, and gave it a good waxing: after playing ping pong there, there was no dust accumulation or evidence of wear, just a little scuffing. What is wrong with our tile? Do I need a new floor? Can it be corrected?

A: I suspect that although you used a good wax, it was one containing volatile oils harmful to asphalt tile: only a water-emulsion type wax (nonrubbing) should be used on asphalt (or rubber) tile: the oils in the wax you used probably have caused the tile to deteriorate, the "decomposing" you mention. Sorry to say, the only satisfactory correction is replacement of the present tile.

Town Plans to Oil Roads in Freedom

FREEDOM — Oil will be applied to town roads during the next week to 10 days, reports town clerk Joseph E. Rickert. He made the report at the town meeting Friday.

A tavern license was issued to Norbert Techlin. The board of review is July 9 at Freedom High school.

AMA Called 'Medical Trust,' 'Reactionary Lobby' by Foes

Assets Far Outweigh Faults, but Critics Keep Up Relentless Attack

BY ARTHUR J. SNIDER
Chicago Daily News Service

CHICAGO In their less than charitable comments, foes have charged the American Medical Assn. a medical trust, a standpoint union and a reactionary lobby.

It may or may not be these, but it is certainly much more.

Critics' Targets

But critics relentlessly focus on those areas in which they consider the AMA to lack social consciousness.

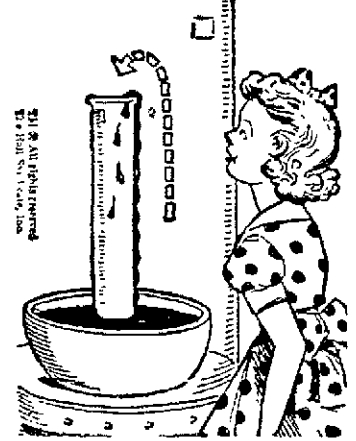

Here are some of the charges and the AMA's answers to them:

— The last time the AMA had a test, it is recognized in public housing, veterans benefits and the public health. It has set standards for medical education 1941 when a resolution commended and wiped out diploma mills. It ed states opposing child labor. has promoted research and raised

AMA says: The AMA has nat-

ers' money by insuring it will be spent for only those who need help.

Reduced Fees

— When the AMA asked physicians to reduce their fees for the aged, a storm of protest arose from local societies.

AMA says: We asked doctors to accept minimum fees so that a Blue Shield or other policy would cover the doctor bill. There was no protest. Within two years, 51 Blue Shield plans had offered this protection.

— The AMA opposed federal aid to medical schools in order to support an artificial scarcity of physicians to maintain high incomes.

AMA says: In 1951 and again in 1961, we supported bills in Congress that would grant aid on a matching basis for construction of and renovation of medical schools. The AMA has not supported a federal scholarship program for medical students, preferring its own scholarship and student loan program.

— During the depression, when lay persons were attempting to obtain health care through prepayment plans, an approach now approved by the medical profession, the AMA openly opposed the effort.

AMA says: The AMA opposition was not to Blue Cross. It was to sporadic profit schemes in health insurance. As early as 1933 we proposed 10 principles governing prepaid health insurance.

No Encouragement

(Hospitals, the journal of the American Hospital Assn. said editorially in December, 1949, the AMA lent no encouragement to voluntary health insurance in the early days and, in fact, "did not believe" in it. But, the editorial adds, the important thing is the AMA attitude today.)

— The AMA opposed extension of Social Security to disabled at age 50.

AMA says: We opposed it on the grounds it would represent another step toward wholesale nationalization of medical care. We predicted the age limit eventually would be dropped. This has happened. The AMA prefers a constructive approach to disability in terms of rehabilitation.

— The AMA opposed elimination of the means test in the federal crippled children's program.

AMA says: We did so for the same reason we favor the means test under the Kerr-Mills Law—so that free care goes to those

Hospital Never Sleeps; Night Only Brings Lull

Much Is Routine at St. Elizabeth, But Emergency Room Ever Ready

BY JAY REED
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A hospital never sleeps. Neither sickness nor all of the ills to which man is a reluctant heir are concerned with timetables and, thus, night-time brings only a soft lull, but never a halt, to the ceaseless task of healing at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

And the services of every department within the highly complex network of medical activity are available as readily, if they are needed, at midnight as they are at anytime during the day.

Fourth of Series

There can be no time for sleeping when there are babies to be born, fears to be comforted, emergencies to be treated and life to be returned to those who risk losing it on the very edge of eternity.

Nurses Whisper Along

Who are the night people who work while a city sleeps? They are nurses in trim, sterilized white who whisper on soft soles along the corridors like opaque shadows. They are skilled technologists, attendants, doctors, Franciscan Sisters in billowing habit.

And while many are on duty, others are on call should their skilled services be required.

Much of the activity at St. Elizabeth Hospital at night is routine. A schedule of treatment prescribed for a given patient by a physician is followed almost to the very second. There is the patient on the third floor who is to receive an injection of medicine every six hours. There are others who must be awakened routinely to take oral medicine. There are patients who are immobile and must ring for help to move ever so slightly in bed. There are temperatures to be taken and pulse beats to be counted.

This is the routine — the order who need it, not to those who can afford to pay for their own care.

Sheppard Towner

— The AMA opposed the Sheppard Towner Maternity and Infancy Act, which would give state health agencies grants-in-aid to reduce the death rate among mothers and children.

AMA says: The control under the act would reside in Washington where local needs could not be determined. This would have been inefficient and wasteful. We favored local control.

— The AMA opposed Red Cross blood banks.

AMA says: We never opposed Red Cross blood banks.

— The AMA opposed the Social Security act in 1935 when it was adopted.

AMA says: The AMA testified before Congress only on one section of the bill, that extending public health services, and supported that section.

— The AMA supports the fee-for-service, private practice approach because of money income, even though the closed panel, salaried physician group practice plan offers the public more service at less cost.

Divided Allegiance

AMA says: Most people want to choose their own physician and pay a fee for service. They want to avoid the regimentation of the closed panel plans, which divide allegiance between the patient and the plan management.

(While the AMA formally opposes the closed panel in which the patient pays a flat sum each year for all his medical needs, it continues to co-exist peacefully with several such plans in the United States.)

The Supreme Court ruled in 1943 that the AMA violated the Sherman Antitrust Act in opposing physicians participating in the group Health Assn. of Washington, D.C.)

Thursday, June 21, 1962 Appleton Post-Crescent B12

the hospital — policemen, ambulance drivers, newspaper reporters and, sometimes, the coroner.

This reporter has been in one of St. Elizabeth's emergency rooms during just such an occasion. They were there — each of the people listed. Two nurses watching fearfully over a loved stood by to help. A doctor had pronounced the crash victim nothing but a building of agony — "DOA" — dead on arrival. Everything that could have been done was done. After the off-duty events of the night, the hospital work was completed and the emergency room was made ready once more.

Hospital Always Ready

Emergencies come in many forms — from the automobile accident, to the domestic mishap, to the baby which nature has seen fit to enter the world before the other night people must come to world was ready for it. The hospital has to be ready. And it always is.

A hospital at night is many things to many people. To a patient it may be interrupted sleep, an unwanted bedpan or the sounds of machinery. To the visitor it may be a building of agony, a place of hope to which he may cling. But to the reporter watching the events of the night, the hospital and its sundown to sunrise activity is a place of matching miracles where life departs and also begins in squalling magnificence.

And if night is a time for sleeping, it also is a time for healing. When it comes, seems the better and brighter because you know that is so.

Vacationers Won't be Railroaded When They're Looking for Pure Air

DEAR CY: "Railroadland" is the name of my exhibit. I built it myself, and exhibit along a highway about 60 miles from a metropolitan area. It has anything to do with railroad, you'll find it in Railroadland. Each year, we have more people pay admissions and go through, but it hasn't paid since I started showing it 8 years ago. I charge 25 cents for children, and 50 cents for adults, and will increase the price unless I move it to a resort area. The move would cost $1,000 and I would be in a northern spot catering to summer vacationers, duck hunters and fishermen. Being up there, they would practically have to see my exhibit for something to do. Should I move, or increase my price of admission?

P. WATROUS: DEAR MR. WATROUS: A rule for amusements is to go where people who would be receptive to what you have to offer are located. Vacationers, hunters, and fishermen want to have to go to a great amount of trouble in preparing a present-poker. Not poke around in some stuffy building, squinting at a miniature train.

If you stay where you are, you have the flimsiest excuse for boosting the price. Move to an area that attracts sightseers and down excellent work, simply bettie in with the local color. Get a copy of "Kiddielands... A Business with a Future" (Allan Herschell, 1165 Clinton Street, Buffalo, N.Y. 14202). It is stacked with facts for anyone desiring public psychology or public admissions.

DEAR CY: It's a crying shame the way church groups are fighting Sunday shopping. My neighbor is aggressive and has a supermarket in a nearby town. He would stay

Brains and Capital Needed to Match U. S. Agriculture, Nik Says

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev told Romanian collective farmers Tuesday at Ceacu it takes brains and capital to catch up with the United States, but it will be done. "We have the brains and we will get the capital and then we will overtake them," the Soviet leader declared.

"Do not be too proud that you in Romania have finished collectivization of farms," he said. "There is always the psychological problem of the soul of the peasants. No one is born a Communist. After collectivization, the peasant goes to look for his own horse and feels that it is still his own property."

Khrushchev, who is on a week's visit to Romania, seemed tired. He spent a grueling six hours in hot sun visiting the collective farm and a field crop research station at Fundulea.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words Often Misused: Do not say, "I have no doubt but what he will come." This is considered awkward. It is better to say, "I have no doubt that he will come."

Often Mispronounced: Abstractly. Accent first syllable, not the second.

Often Misspelled: Facet (plane surface of a gem; also, a phase or aspect). Faucet (a spout).

Synonyms: Friendly, affable, amicable, cordial, companionable, sociable, kindly, agreeable, charming, pleasing.

Word Study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: Obloquy: censorious speech; defamatory language. (Accent first syllable). Epistle to the Romans (Rom. 8:31). "After a bitter separation, the words that were once love were now obloquy."

Author Still Waging War With Top Brass

Marion Hargrove Refuses to Bow To Hollywood Production Bosses

BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Twenty years later, Private Hargrove is still battling the brass. The difference is that his adversaries are not the top kicks and shavetails from whom he extracted his wartime best seller, "See Here, Private Hargrove."

Now he is contending with the production minds of the Hollywood studios. I might add that as one of the town's most in-demand comedy writers, his pay is somewhat different this time. Hargrove appears to have prospered in spite of his refusal to knuckle under the Hollywood system. But he admitted in his cozy Universal office that it sometimes pays to be cautious.

"Most of the time I am writing satire," he explained, "but the trick is never to tell the producers that it is satire. That would scare them."

Hargrove came here in 1955 to research and write a comedy about the peacetime army, "The Girl He Left Behind," for Warner Brothers. He persuaded the studio to let him write the yarn as a book while a script writer followed a few paces behind, turning it into a scenario. Hargrove's hilarious passages came out serious in the script, Hollywood was on a drama kick.

While waiting for the studios to come over to comedy, Hargrove turned out a pack of television Westerns — "the way Westerns should be written," that is, funny. His "Mavericks" were pure satire but no one admitted it out loud. Hollywood finally found out that comedies sell, and he was in demand for features. He converted "Music Man" to films and had the local group said the study his would be made free of charge, beginning in July.

Ald. George Buckley proposed the department and director of finance for Appleton, because of the city's rapid growth and the consequently increasing financial problems.

The taxpayers group did not give an estimate by when the study would be completed. The council didn't set a date when it would discuss Buckley's proposal.

Writer Marion Hargrove, who produced the wartime best seller "See Here, Private Hargrove" about his problems with top kicks and shavetails, is still at war with his superiors. Now his adversaries are the Hollywood production bosses for whom he is writing comedies.

Original Conductor of 'My Fair Lady' Score To Direct at Munich

NEW YORK (AP)—Franz Allers has another date with "My Fair Lady" in Munich next September.

Allers conducted the orchestra during the first four and a half years of the musical's hit run on Broadway, conducted again in Moscow and West Berlin.

Sheridan Play Makes Comedie Francaise

PARIS (AP) — England's renowned 18th Century wit, Richard Brinsley Sheridan has finally made the Comedie Francaise. A new translation of his "A School for Scandal" recently went into the repertoire of the company that was founded in honor of Sheridan's great contemporary, Moliere. It is the first time a Sheridan work has been done by the group.

The production is to be included in the troupe's program for U.S.-Canadian tour next season.

CBS Repeats John Brown's Body Tonight

BY TV SCOUT

7:30-8:30 (Channel 2-12)—When it was originally presented, John Brown's Body was tossed into the Sunday afternoon time slot — television's Siberia. So tonight's repeat will be new to most viewers. This is a beautiful adaptation, by Harold Flender, of the Stephen Vincent Benet narrative poem. Richard Boone narrates with Douglas Campbell (who starred on Broadway in "Gideon") giving a magnificent performance as Brown.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5) — Cliff Robertson co-authored the story he stars in on tonight's Outlaws repeat, and it's a good one. He plays a blind villain, perhaps the first time a person so handicapped has been made into anything other than a hero on television.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 5) — Myasthenia gravis, a disease which causes a weakening of the muscles, is the disease-of-the-week on the Dr. Kildare repeat. The victim is a fellow interne (Ross Martin), who is about to marry a beautiful young lady (Ellen McRae) who lives the gay life of a fashion model.

8:30-9 (Channel 11) — The Law and Mr. Jones brings back Russ Brown, as James Whitmore's father, in another of his bombastic parts. This story sprang from producer Sy Gomberg's reading of the A. J. Leibling book, "The Press," and makes some strong points on the need for more than one newspaper in each community.

8:30-9 (Channel 2-7-12) — Claudette Colbert stars in the repeat on The Zane Grey Theater tonight. She and her husband (John Dehner) are a successful ranch couple. The success, however, has changed his sense of values; he used to like to paint but now he looks forward to a lynching.

9-10 (Channel 11) — The Untouchables' repeat is a touch above its usual rut, because the leading character is an interesting psychopath. Lee Marvin plays this character, who enjoys close brushes with death and-or capture.

9-10 (Channel 2-7-12)—CBS Reports' repeat considers "The Water Famine" and, while this isn't as dramatic as some of the subjects in the series, it is vitally important. The key to the message is a statement Howard K. Smith makes in the conclusion—the Earth has the same amount of water it has had since Genesis, but adds two million people a week.

Considering Revised Version of Miller Play For Off-Broadway Run

NEW YORK (AP) — A revised version of "The Crucible" is being considered as the third New York presentation of Arthur Miller's drama about the Salem witchcraft trials.

Kermit Bloomgarden, who brought the original production to Broadway in 1953, intends to stage it this time off-Broadway. Besides being somewhat longer, the new version shifts main attention in the final act from the trials to the community.

In 1958, Ward Baker directed an off - Broadway presentation in which the script was a combination of several Miller drafts.

Haitian Dancers Will Perform in New York At World's Fair of 1964

NEW YORK (AP)—A company of native dancers is to highlight Haiti's participation in the 1964 New York World's Fair.

Harold Tuthill, arranging the display, said that the troupe would probably make a cross-country tour prior to the local appearance.

Talkative People Topic Of Theater Guild Play

NEW YORK (AP)—Some "immensely vocal individuals" are the topic of "Homage to Blenheim," which the Theater Guild has acquired for autumn production.

The play is an adaptation by Shimon Winicberg of a 1936 novel by Daniel Fuchs.

Stock Market Drops Sharply In Heavy Trade

'Blue Chip' and Growth Issues Make Big Skids

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined sharply in heavy trading early this afternoon, dropping below the closing lows of 1962 in some averages.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 1.40 to 208.50 with industrials off 2.10, rails off .40, and utilities off 1.00.

This put the AP average below its 1962 closing low of 208.60 reached last Thursday.

'Blue Chip's' and 'growth' issues skidded indiscriminately.

Brokers said there was nothing in the news to account for the continued decline.

IBM sank a dozen points or so, still remaining well above its '62 low of 300. Xerox lost about 7, Polaroid around 8, Litton Industries about 4—all sharp moves but not too unusual for these volatile issues. Du Pont sank more than 4.

Celotex advanced more than 3 points in response to news that Rubberoid plans to invite tenders for 350,000 shares of Celotex at $25 a share. The stock closed at 20 1/2 Wednesday.

U.S. Steel was sold heavily on a string of sizable blocks, showing a loss of more than a point. AT&T also dropped more than a point.

General Motors and Ford lost fractions, Chrysler nearly a point.

Most of the major oils were fairly steady, Texaco yielding a fraction. Amerasia fell about 3. Tobaccos also held fairly well.

Lorillard giving up a fraction.

Rails were unchanged to fractionally lower.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 6.69 at 556.39. This put it below its closing low of the year reached last Thursday when it stood at 563.00.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange in moderate trading.

Around Home.

During last week's severe electrical storm, all of the lights went out in a little home at Seymour. As lightning crackled ominously and thunder reverberated a frightened 85-year-old lady almost leaped from her bed in the darkened room.

She knelt at the bedside and recited prayers. Alone, she was thoroughly afraid.

Then, as the rain beat menacingly and the storm continued in unabated fury, she groped her way to her kitchen cupboard. She grasped a bottle and lovingly cradled it as she returned to the bedroom.

There, she uncorked the container and liberally sprinkled the bed, walls, commode and windows, said another prayer and got back under the quilts.

Holy water—yes, it would help exorcise the evil and fury that was about her, and she felt better. She had done this before.

In the morning, with the freshness of the new day, the elderly lady was puzzled by what first appeared to be spots before her eyes, blue dots.

The bedsheets, counterpane, wallpaper, dresser and window curtains were streaked, flecked and mottled in blue.

She had, in the darkness, gotten her bottle of blueing instead of the container of Holy Water. The old lady and her neighbors all had a good laugh when she related her error—and got about the task of laundering and cleaning bedclothes and wallpaper.
